

CIO Asks Lifts In Wages As OPA Heads for Limbo

WASHINGTON, July 18—(UP)—The CIO, bitterly denouncing Congress for its failure to revive a strong OPA, Thursday night asked President Truman to convene another Labor-Management Conference to consider wage increases and to stabilize the nation's economy.

CIO Pres. Philip Murray told a news conference that his organization has abandoned hope that the present Senate-House conference will bring forward a workable OPA revival bill.

He called for a nation-wide organized buyers' strike to demonstrate the consumers' "opposition to profiteering" and to prevent unreasonable increases in the price of food, clothing and shelter.

Meanwhile, Senate-House conferees remained deadlocked Thursday despite a warning from President Truman that prices will continue to rise unless Congress passes a bill resurrecting OPA.

Mr. Truman also said that he was waiting to see what happened to OPA before appointing a successor to Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles.

Sen. Wiley, Republican, Wisconsin, meantime recommended that Congress allow the OPA to stay dead for at least 60 to 90 days.

But Rep. Barry, Democrat, New York, said that if OPA conferees are unable to reach agreement he will recommend that President Truman be given power to "re-enact" the expired OPA bill, to be effective from Sept. 1, 1946, to Feb. 1, 1947.

Meanwhile, Rep. Baldwin, Republican, New York, introduced a bill which would authorize Mr. Truman to ration any commodities exempted from price control under any OPA bill passed by Congress.

The Labor-Management Conference was proposed by the CIO Executive Board. It protested that "only in this manner can we avoid the terrible devastation and misery of an inflationary period which will otherwise descend upon the people of this country."

"We therefore call upon the President of the United States," its formal statement said, "to call before him in immediate conference, representatives of American labor and industry to the end that the demand and need for immediate wage increases may be given full and official recognition."

The Board said the conference would also work "to the end that the crisis created by the drive to cripple and destroy price control may be met quickly through adequate guarantees for a stabilized national economy."

The Board charged that anti-OPA Congressmen "fearing exposure of their aims by an outright termination of price controls laws... have sought to perpetrate a hoax on the American people by pretending a continuance of price control while so limiting its power and effect as to result in no effective price control whatsoever."

"In the scandalous exhibition of log-rolling unequaled in its depth in betrayal of public interest," it said, "the Senate has removed control on product after product in a manner which would leave the most important portions of the American pantry without even the pretense of price protection."

CIO unions, it said, only agreed to long-term labor-management contracts in the belief that the price line would be held. Right now, it said, consumers must take vigorous emergency action to protect themselves against inflation.

The Board recommended that buyers refrain from avoidable purchases "to demonstrate to industry and Government their opposition to profiteering, to protect by local and national action and by every available weapon the right to food, clothing and shelter for their families."

Indorsing the proposed buyers' strike, Murray told reporters that government figures showed the prices of 12 basic food items had risen 40 percent in the last two months.

One Out, Two Lag In Congress Races

With most of the returns in, Georgia's Congressional delegation had rough sledding in this State's Democratic primary and Congressmen conceded defeat, two more were behind in a tight race the result was so close there was talk of a recount.

Mankin, Davis Both Claim Congress Win

The question of who will be the Representative in Congress from the Fifth Congressional District, which comprises Fulton, DeKalb and Rockdale Counties, moves from one complication to another.

Mrs. Helen Douglas Mankin, the incumbent, claims election on the basis of a majority of the popular vote in the district. However, her opponent, Judge James C. Davis, who carried DeKalb and Rockdale Counties, claims victory under the unit rule. Mrs. Mankin carried Fulton County.

In commenting on the situation yesterday, Mrs. Mankin said: "I have a majority of the vote in the district and I am happy. I am today appointing my delegates for the Fifth District Congressional Convention and as there is some question as to whether I also appoint a committee or appoint the delegates to a convention, I am appointing both."

"There is an old rule, however, that says that the delegates to the convention shall be named by the nominee and then the convention shall elect the committee. In order to be covered, by both rules, I am calling a convention, and also appointing a committee."

Mrs. Mankin said she is acting

Rep. Malcolm Tarver, veteran of 20 years' service in Congress, acknowledged defeat to Henderson Lovelace Lanham in the Seventh District. Lanham, a Solicitor General of the Rome Judicial Circuit, had a County unit vote total of 30 to Tarver's 10.

Tarver, however, led Lanham in popular votes, receiving 29,637 to the winner's 26,577. In the Eighth District, Rep. John S. Gibson fell behind W. M. (Don) Wheeler in a see-saw race which saw first one and then the other grab the lead as returns sifted in.

Incomplete returns gave Wheeler, a school teacher and ex-officer, a County unit vote total of 22 and a popular vote figure of 24,390 to Gibson's 18 unit votes and 22,929 popular count.

Rep. Helen Douglas Mankin, ahead in popular votes, but behind in the County unit vote, already had begun work at appealing to the State Democratic Executive Committee if her opponent, Judge James C. Davis, has the most unit votes in the Fifth.

In the First District, Rep. Hugh Peterson apparently had won on the basis of complete returns. He held a County unit tabulation of 24 against his opponent, Prince Preston's 22.

There was talk in Bryan County by Preston's supporters that they would ask for a recount since Peterson carried the county by only three popular votes. The county has two unit votes.

Peterson's popular vote was 41,222; Preston's, 36,877, and Charles R. Cochran had 3,949.

Rep. Eugene Cox continued to hold a big majority of 28 unit

Gen. Zhukov, Friend of Eisenhower, Demoted in Shake-Up by Stalin

(Copyright, 1946, by United Press) NEW YORK, July 18—(UP)—Generalissimo Stalin has quietly carried out a shake-up in the High Command of the Red Army, it became known Thursday night, in which Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, top Soviet war hero, has been relegated to the relatively obscure command of the Odessa Military District.

The extent of the changes in the top level of the Soviet High Command was not yet fully known. However, it was understood that Stalin has carried out a thoroughgoing reorganization and that Zhukov is not the only commander to suffer a sudden change in status.

The Red Army changes have not yet been announced to the Soviet public and no official announcement has been made that Zhukov, Commander-in-Chief of Red Army Ground Forces, has now been shifted to the comparatively unimportant Odessa post. Original suggestions that Zhukov had been sent to Odessa because of its military and strategic importance as a Soviet post close to the troubled Balkans and to the Dardanelles, subject of recriminations between Russia and Turkey, were discounted in the light of fuller information on the Red Army shake-up.

First intimation of the changes were given in a brief United Press dispatch which cleared the Moscow censorship—ordinarily very strict in passing any news involving military personnel, particularly changes which have not been officially announced.

It said: "Unconfirmed reports said today that Marshal Zhukov has been appointed to command the Odessa military district."

Today the United Press obtained confirmation that Zhukov has been relieved of his high command and sent to the obscure Odessa post—a move comparable to relegating Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to command a U. S. Army post at New Orleans.

There was no explanation of the sudden Soviet move which came only a little more than three months after Zhukov had been named Red Army ground force commander and elevated to a post on the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, top legislative body in Russia.

However, it came after the Soviet press and the Red Army organ, Red Star, had launched a major propaganda drive for tightening up discipline in the Red Army and placing major emphasis on

Talmadge Cracks Own Vote Record In Clinching 4th Term As Governor

299,000 Far Ahead Of Previous Mark

Getting upwards of 100,000 more votes than he polled when he was nominated Governor in 1940, Eugene Talmadge has been chosen by Georgia to serve a fourth term as chief executive.

With a record-breaking total vote of about 700,000 counted for all four candidates, Talmadge is assured return to office—the "white man's candidate" running on a platform of white supremacy. There were 1,072,000 voters registered.

While James V. Carmichael received a larger popular vote than Talmadge, his unit vote count was far below the Old Campaigner's. Carmichael received about 318,000 votes to Talmadge's approximately 299,000 on a tabulation with only a few precincts lacking.

In 1940, Talmadge received 183,133 votes to win over Abit Nix and Columbus Roberts, who together polled 171,935.

Against Walter F. George for the United States Senate in 1938, Talmadge counted only 103,075 against George's 141,235.

PICKS UP 200,000 Thus the man who is known in political circles as "having 100,000 votes in his pocket in any race" mustered nearly 200,000 more.

The registration broke all records for Georgia. There was no way of telling in advance how many were Talmadge registrants and how many were anti-Talmadge, but other candidates had their expected victories.

With the big issue of the campaign that of white supremacy, many Negroes registered for their first State Democratic Primary.

Dr. George Callahan, Mayor of McRae, has announced a celebration for Gov.-Elect Talmadge at the McRae Raceway at 8 o'clock tonight.

"Everybody in the whole country is invited," Dr. Callahan said.

First State Democratic Primary. Of the 135,000 Negroes registered, nearly 100,000 voted, and heavily against Talmadge and for Carmichael.

But Talmadge picked up more votes from the bigger registration than he lost to the Negro ballot. With the returns making Talmadge's victory certain, Carmichael has refrained from making any statement on the race. E. D. Rivers, former Governor who ran third, late yesterday conceded victory to Talmadge. But Carmichael said he would wait for the official count.

The race settled down to a two-man affair between Carmichael and Talmadge. In returns from 139 counties, Rivers had 51,672 votes.

"FOUR-YEAR BAN" Carmichael was the man campaigning on a pledge of continuing the government of Ellis Arnall. Arnall's administration saw the repeal of the poll tax; it saw the lowering of the voting age to 18 years; it saw defense of the Supreme Court ruling that Negroes could vote in Democratic primaries.

It furnished the springboard that sends Talmadge back to the Governor's Mansion next January. He called for strict Southern tradition in race relations; he called for maintenance of white supremacy; he called for the Supreme Court ruling to be circumvented by altering the primary laws in such a way as to cut the link between the ruling and State

Partly Cloudy, High of 88 On Weather Table Today With virtually complete returns in from all over Georgia, the weatherman says partly cloudy skies and warm weather are elected to remain in power for another two days.

His official predictions for today and tomorrow call for a high temperature of 88 degrees, while yesterday's high was 84.

He also casts a damp note on the proceedings with a forecast of probable thunderstorms tomorrow afternoon.

FIRST TEST OF UNDERWATER A-BOMB IS 'LOUD POP' BUT AWAKENS WRITERS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18—(P)—A test of the earth's first underwater atomic bomb went off on schedule and made a "loud pop" a pooled radio broadcast Thursday quoted V. Adm. William H. P. Blandy as saying.

A flash bomb exploded 20 minutes prematurely in the dress rehearsal, which had been set for 8:35 a. m. Friday, Bikini time (4:35 p. m. EST Thursday), said a broadcast recorded by the American Broadcasting Company.

But National Broadcasting Company quoted Blandy as saying this bomb was not the missile testing the detonating equipment, but that a second bomb containing no power was set off under water.

"This," the NBC broadcast added, "contradicted the impression given correspondents two days ago by R. Adm. W. S. Parsons (Deputy Task Force Commander) that the so-called time-lock radio circuits would be connected to the only bomb which correspondents had been told would be used today."

The test bomb was set at the exact position to be occupied by the atomic bomb on July 25 (July 24, U. S. time). "There is no indication from Adm. Blandy or Adm. Parsons why the correspondents on the scene were not told of the second bomb until circumstances forced the staff to reveal its presence," the NBC broadcast added.

The rehearsal bomb contained no elements of the atomic bomb.

GENE CERTAIN OF UNIT MARGIN

With complete returns from 151 of 159 Georgia Counties, Eugene Talmadge was assured of nomination in Wednesday's Democratic Gubernatorial Primary, according to Associated Press tabulations.

In the completed counties alone, Talmadge had 238 unit votes, 30 more than the necessary majority.

Carmichael's popular vote had reached 318,637 against 298,752 for Talmadge.

law books. He cited South Carolina as an example.

The Associated Press interpreted the election of Talmadge this way:

"After pioneering a new political way in the South that amazed the nation, Georgia has returned to rock-ribbed Southern tradition and sent Gene Talmadge to the Governor's office again."

And the Associated Press also quoted Talmadge as saying: "I had to win for the good of the South and the nation. No Negro will vote in Georgia for the next four years."

Negroes voted Wednesday for the first time since State Democratic primaries were started nearly 10 years ago.

Thompson Forges Ahead of Griffin In Race for Lieutenant-Governor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

After lagging in early returns in the Lieutenant-Governor's race, State Revenue Commissioner M. E. Thompson grabbed a commanding lead as tabulation in the six-man fight neared a close Thursday.

Complete returns from 137 counties gave Thompson 167 County unit votes and a popular vote of 140,535. He led the field in 63 counties.

Marvin Griffin, the State Adjutant General, who had led almost from the start, dropped behind Thompson as returns showed him with an indicated 1 County vote. Griffin led in 52 counties and had a total popular vote of 128,779.

Frank Gross, President of the State Senate, led in 14 counties with a possible 28 County votes and a popular vote count of 75,559.

Dr. L. N. Huff, Atlanta optometrist, ran in fourth position with a possible 15 county unit votes

8 Dead, Many Hurt As Gas Blast Rocks Seaside Village On Cape Cod

WARHAM, Mass., July 18—(UP)—Eight persons were killed and about 60 others injured Thursday when an illuminating gas explosion rocked the seaside village of Onset, and rescue workers feared more bodies would be dug from the shambles of four buildings. Four of the bodies at a funeral parlor were men, three were women.

The blast, which shook houses within a quarter-mile area, was believed touched off either by a lighted match or a spark from a faulty refrigerating unit.

Most of the dead were trapped when the building collapsed. A total of 31 persons—many of them summer tourists—were hurt so badly by broken glass and flying debris that they required hospital treatment. Another 30 were accommodated at hastily improvised first aid stations set up at the village. The gas first began seeping from a feeder line when a workman, Cecil Barrett, accidentally broke a cellar pipe with his pick. Gas company workers and firemen were summoned and the downtown area was roped off.

Some time later when the danger was believed passed, the ropes were removed and curious shoppers rushed into the area to see what had happened. Within minutes the blast roared out and the buildings crumpled.

An Onset housewife, who was shopping at the time, reported "there was a terrible blast and the buildings were blown to bits."

Barrett himself was killed. State police identified the other victims as follows: Francis R. Albrecht, 67, Somerville, Mass.; Mrs. Elizabeth May Ward, 60, New Bedford, Mass.; Raymond Brune, 33, Sandwich, Mass.; Mrs. Catherine Rizzuto, 38, Belmont, Mass.; William English, Fall River, Mass.; Mrs. George Heald and Mrs. Johanna Rose, both of Onset.

Many of the injured were mangled, one woman losing her right leg in the blast and another having her arm blown off.

John E. Bassett, of Dorchester, was walking along the street with his brother when the explosion occurred.

"We saw people walking along, covered with blood," he said. "Many of them were too dazed to realize how severely they were hurt. One girl's clothing was torn off and when I saw her she had

Incumbent State Officials Roll Up Big Unit Votes Over Their Rivals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Complete returns from 64 counties gave present Statehouse officials apparent overwhelming leads over their opponents as returns trickled in Thursday.

On the basis of the returns Dr. M. D. Collins, State Superintendent of Education, was close to blanketing his opponent, John C. Manning. Collins had an indicated 310 county unit votes and Manning two.

Here is the way the other races ran by unit votes, based on the complete returns from the 64 counties:

Secretary of State—Ben W. Fortson, 280; Napier Burson, 26.

Attorney General—Eugene Cook, 284; Irwin Kimzey, 20.

Commissioner of Agriculture—Tom Linder, 300; J. C. (Jim) Manning, 14.

Commissioner of Labor—Ben T. Huie, 302; Harry Monroe, 16.

Walter McDonald, 294; Tom Durant, 14.

Public Service Commission—Allen Chappell, 188; Glenn Allen, 58; W. P. (Bill) White, 50.

Court of Appeals—Hugh McIntyre, 262; Earl W. Butler, 18; Robert E. Church, 2.

Rivers Congratulates Gene In Gubernatorial Victory

E. D. Rivers, twice former Governor who ran third in Wednesday's gubernatorial primary, has sent a telegram of congratulations to the successful candidate, Eugene Talmadge.

Rivers also thanked his supporters, and declared that "the principles of progress for which we were fighting will ultimately prevail for our State."

His full statement, issued through his headquarters here, was: "I am grateful for the confidence and loyalty of those who stood steadfastly with me in this fight in the face of overwhelming odds."

"I want you to know how genuinely grateful I am for your confidence and loyalty. I want to thank each and everyone of you

Commons Beats Churchill Demand For Withdrawing Bread Rationing

LONDON, July 18—(UP)—The House of Commons Thursday rejected by a vote of 305 to 182 Winston Churchill's demand that the Labor Government withdraw its plans for rationing bread.

The vote came after his demands had brought a heavy affirmative response from some members of the House and from the gallery.

Minister of Food John Strachey refused pointblank to withdraw or postpone the order for bread rationing after one of the wildest days in the normally staid House of Commons in a long time.

Former Prime Minister Churchill brought angry shouts from Labor adherents when he pointed to the Government front bench and said, "I know you do not want free speech here."

The parliamentary free-for-all, precipitated by the picketing of Parliament by housewives, was preliminary to the food debate this evening.

Churchill opened by demanding that the Government withdraw the rationing scheme on the grounds that it never was taken in war and was unnecessary in peace.

"Unless some new fact is disclosed which we do not know we shall be bound to vote against this heavy, awkward, galling burden at this time. We cannot feel convinced that the imposition of bread rationing is necessary on July 21," he said.

Churchill said Britain would need to import only 150,000 tons of wheat more than it had on the way now to see the country through until the Fall harvest.

Strachey accepted that figure but said that no more wheat could be obtained.

"The Montreal elevators can dry a few weeks ago," the Food Minister said, praising Canada for using her wheat to stave off world famine.

"We cannot avoid introduction of this scheme next week," Strachey said. "It would be most rash before the harvests are gathered to enter into an undertaking on that point. If our hopes are realized, it may be possible at a much earlier date than seemed likely a few weeks ago to remove the burden of bread rationing from the people of this country."

Strachey went to Commons from his second meeting of the day with the Master Bakers' Association, which had voted to refuse to accept bread coupons from consumers. The Food Minister said the Government would apply "sanctions of supply" against bakers who refused to try to make the rationing plan work.

"I think they will find that if and when they try reasonably to work this scheme they will succeed in working it," he said.

The House was in a turmoil when Churchill made his remark about free speech.

Labor members rose, yelling, while Churchill tried to make himself heard above the din.

Outside in front of the historic Parliament Building paraded the housewives who were the cause of the debate, holding aloft banners which said, "The names of M. P.'s voting for bread rationing will be published here as public enemies and dictators."

Speaker of the House Geoffrey Clifton Brown termed the posters a "prima facie breach of privilege." Government Leader Herbert Morrison moved that a Committee of Privileges inquire as to who were the authors, printers and distributors of the posters.

That was all the challenge Churchill needed. He rose for battle.

"Are we really to understand," he demanded, "that the members of the new House of Commons, just elected by the people, fresh from contact with the people, are going to be frightened out of their wits?"

The shouts of "No, No!" from the Government bench drowned out the rest of his sentence. But they did not silence the doctory Churchill. Shaking his finger at the Government members, he shouted:

"I know you do not want free speech here. You go further and further on the road to destroying it."

An angry roar rose from the Labor side of the House, drowning out Churchill's words.

Morrison said he thought Churchill had given the House an "unhappy exhibition."

The incident ended when the speaker said "the sooner the matter is sent to the Committee of Privileges the better."

Morrison's motion was carried with the opposition refraining from voting.

But Churchill had the last word. "You are already on the run," he shouted to the Government bench.

Truman Opposes Re-election Of Slaughter, Missouri Solon

WASHINGTON, July 18—(UP)—President Truman, announcing that he will take the political stump if called on this Summer, said Thursday that he opposes the re-election of Rep. Roger C. Slaughter, Democrat, of Missouri, who has fought most Administration legislation that has come before the House.

For the first time, Mr. Truman confirmed a controversy with Slaughter, who represents an adjoining district, that has been talked about in Washington for months.

The President told his news conference that he favors the candidacy of Enos Axtell, whom he described as an old friend.

Slaughter issued a statement from his Kansas City law office asserting that the President would not have made "such an unusual statement" had he "not been embarrassed and chagrined by the failure of the Montana voters to heed his recommendations." Mr. Truman had endorsed the re-election campaign of Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, a prewar isolationist who was rejected in the State's Tuesday primary.

In disclosing that he will take the political platform, if necessary, this Summer, Mr. Truman said he had not made any specific plans for a campaign tour.

He declined comment upon Wheeler's primary defeat.

The President set at rest rumors that Postmaster Gen. Robert E. Hannegan, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, might quit before this November's election campaign is through. He expects Hannegan to remain on the job through the campaign, Mr. Truman said.

He and Mrs. Truman will fly to Kansas City on Aug. 3 to vote in the State primary, returning to Washington on Aug. 6.

Dumas, Bonner Get Army Appreciation

H. S. Dumas, President, and J. S. Bonner, General Sales Manager, of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, have received War Department Certificates of Appreciation "for patriotic services in a position of trust and responsibility."

The presentations were made yesterday in Dumas' office by Col. F. J. Magee, Signal Officer of the Seventh Army, in behalf of Maj. Gen. H. C. Ingles, Chief Signal Officer, of Washington.

Both men received the awards for outstanding work in providing the Army communications within the Louisiana Maneuver Area and throughout the territory of the Southern Bell Company.

Duce's Nephew Pardoned Under Political Amnesty

ROME, July 18—(P)—Vito Mussolini, nephew of the former Duce and one-time publisher of his newspaper, Popolo d'Italia, was pardoned Thursday under the terms of the general political amnesty granted by the Italian Republic.

Vito Mussolini was sentenced in December by a Milan court to 14 years imprisonment for helping to maintain Fascism. The order for his release was sent to the prison island of Procida, in the Bay of Naples, where he has been imprisoned.

Macon Boy, 7, Fatally Cut In Crash Through Glass Door

MACON, July 18—Seven-year-old Robert Vought bled to death here Thursday shortly before 3 p. m. after he ran through a glass door while playing with a little friend.

The child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Lamb, of 3033 Lackey Dr., Macon, suffered two severed arteries when he crashed through the glass of the bedroom door at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Richard Barkley, Ponce de Leon Ave., where he was staying while his parents are on a trip to Florida.

He was cut under the right arm and an artery under his left arm was cut also.

The child's mother and father are believed to be en route to Arcadia, Fla., from Macon, and did not know of his death late Thursday.

Sweden Agrees To Yield German Assets to Allies

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP)—The United States, France and Britain Thursday announced an agreement with Sweden whereby approximately 74 percent of the total German assets in Sweden will be turned over to the three Allies.

The assets were estimated at $104,000,000, of which the Western Allies will get approximately $77,000,000.

State Department officials said this was a somewhat better deal than the American, British and French Governments got out of Switzerland on German assets.

The Western Powers' share in that case was held to 50 per cent, although they started off by claiming that the Swiss had no right to keep any German wealth.

In addition, the official announcement said, the Swedish Government has agreed to restore about seven tons of gold, valued at about $8,000,000, to the Bank of

SCIENTIST CLAIMS TO DETECT POLIO THROUGH STUDY OF FINGERPRINTS

PORTLAND, Maine, July 18—(AP)—A person's health can be diagnosed by a microscopic study of fingerprints, Miss Esta Barr, of Boston, nationally known scientist and criminologist, said Thursday.

By looking through a microscope at the lines in a fingerprint impression, she said in an interview, she could determine whether the person was in good health, or suffering from arthritis, cancer, tuberculosis or poliomyelitis.

"Think what it would mean," Miss Barr added, "if every child in this country were fingerprinted, and those with polio discovered and treated before the terrible disease was too far advanced to effect a quick cure."

Belgium from whom it was taken by the Germans.

On its part, the United States agreed to unblock more than $200,000,000 of Swedish funds in this country according to procedure designed to prevent release any enemy wealth hidden under Swedish accounts.

Announcement of the settlement followed six weeks of negotiation, and was made simultaneously in Washington, London, Paris and Stockholm. The American negotiator was a State Department economic official, Seymour Rubin.

Keep Homes Locked

ALBANY, July 18—Dougherty County Police Chief Royace Hinson Thursday issued a warning to home-owners who leave their houses unlocked except for a latched screen door, saying that several screen doors have been cut and houses entered by burglars here recently. Chief Hinson said if Dougherty Countians who expect to leave home for a vacation will call his office County police will make routine checks in an effort to guard against house entry.

Lions Widen Aim To Foster World Peace, 'Our Job'

PHILADELPHIA, July 18—(AP)—Lions International stands ready to foster world peace.

The organization, holding its annual convention, struck from its constitution Wednesday a phrase which limited official interest to fostering international relationships to the standpoint of business and professional ethics.

"World peace is our job," said David A. Skeen, of Salt Lake City, immediate past international president. "Every Lion should oft repeat that 'Peace is what we make it'."

Only one business session was scheduled Thursday. Hundreds of delegates prepared to attend an American League baseball game, where Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, was to receive the Lions' 1946 Sportsman-ship Award.

DOUBLE TALK IN DETROIT

DETROIT, July 18—(AP)—You may be able to get delivery of a new automobile with virtually no delay about mid-1947 . . . you won't be able to get immediate delivery on any kind of a new car until early 1948.

In authoritative circles of the automotive industry you can get both answers if you try to learn how long the present scarcity of new automobiles is to last. It all depends upon how optimistic the sales executives of the individual companies may be.

In the last few weeks, no fewer than half a dozen of the top-level sales managers have asserted that the actual accumulation of new-car orders has been fabulously over-estimated and that the car retailers will be hunting out customers soon after the first of next year.

Turks Must Keep Army, President Tells People

ISTANBUL, July 18—(AP)—Pres. Ismet Inonu has told the nation that while Turkey desires "the establishment of a prompt, definite peace" she feels compelled to keep her army fully mobilized as it has been for the last three years.

In a broadcast asking support for his People's Party in next Sunday's national elections, Inonu emphasized the uncertainty of the future and suggested the possibility that questions concerning the Dardanelles and the "security" of Istanbul might arise soon.

Russia has indicated her desire for a revision of the status of the Dardanelles, which connects the Black Sea with the Mediterranean.

MARY VISITS ST. SIMONS

'Every Place Different,'
British Girl's CommentBy KATHERINE BARNWELL,
Constitution Staff Writer

ST. SIMON ISLAND, July 18—That pretty, blue-eyed, brown-haired girl lying over there on the beach is Mrs. Mary Roberts Mays, winner of the "Know Georgia—Go Georgia" Contest.

You might not recognize her at first because she is, to paraphrase the soap ads, four or five shades darker.

After one day on a Georgia beach the British girl has absorbed quite a goodly amount of Vitamin D. She is, in fact, just plain sunburned.

But Mary loves it here—the warm sun, the cool breezes, the bracing air and the beautiful scenery. She likes them all.

This third stop in her plane tour of Georgia, which she won in the Georgia contest sponsored by The Constitution and Davison Paxson Company, offers a "different kind of Georgia beauty."

"This is like another country," she said. "Every place we have been has been beautiful. But every place this far has been totally different."

Mary was greeted at the airport by a reporter, three photographers and Donald Doyle, Vice President of the St. Simons Civic Club. "My goodness," she sighed, as she saw them there. But she survived the picture-taking nicely.

In the afternoon Doyle and Scarlett Blanton, of the coastal plains, took the Georgia contest winner on an auto tour of St. Simons and Sea Island, which are just across the Sound from Brunswick.

"You have here," she said, "moss as beautiful as I have ever seen it. It hangs almost to the ground on the giant trees. Is it planted there?"

She was assured that it isn't.

Mary admired the glorious pink and white oleanders blooming on every side, the exquisite creamy blossoms of the Spanish bayonet, the beautiful winter homes of the wealthy Northerners and the rolling greens of the 18-hole golf course.

HISTORIC FEDERICA

She was extremely interested in points of historic note and their connections with British history. She climbed up on the ruins of old Fort Frederica, the southernmost settlement made by the British in North America. And she read avidly the marker on the site of the Battle of Bloody Marsh, where the British defeated the Spaniards in 1742—and gave to this country a shared language and Runnymede charter.

Present-day visitors to St. Simons and Sea Island find many recreation possibilities: Surf or pool bathing, golf, horseback riding, sailing, boating, fishing, target shooting, cycling and countless others.

MARY'S ACCOLADE

"It's a perfect vacation spot," said Mary.

She herself spent most of the time in the surf. She insisted that this reporter and Ben Epps, pilot of the chartered Albany Airways plane, go with her for a night swim. The water was "warm and wonderful."

Mary next will visit beautiful old Savannah and Savannah Beach. It's a good guess that the Beach will get most of her attention.

92,550 Cast Votes in Fulton County
Out of Registration of 122,000

Of the total number of 122,000 odd registered voters in Fulton County, including 22,000 Negroes, 92,550 cast their ballots in the Democratic Primary held Wednesday, according to the returns consolidated by Neill Leach, Secretary of the County Democratic Executive Committee.

The final returns showed that all the incumbents in the County legislative races won and that M.

(Muggsy) Smith was voted into the vacancy created by the resignation of Helen Douglas Manekin. Sen. G. Everett Millican received 43,027 votes to 23,561 for his opponent, Jim Belflower.

Rep. Paul S. Etheridge, Jr., ran ahead with 41,070 votes to 17,535 for G. Hall Taylor and 9,166 for McWhorter Milner.

Rep. Cicero Kendrick received 29,964 and his closest opponent, Luther Alverson, 23,261. In this race Roy Barnett got 10,011 votes and Joe Wallace 7,804.

For the Mankin vacancy M. M. (Muggsy) Smith wound up with 31,454 votes to 19,645 for Reuben Garland, 11,671 for W. R. Bentley and 8,762 for Dr. Robert K. Glass.

Fulton consolidated returns gave James V. Carmichael 58,193 votes, Eugene Talmadge 29,070, E. D. Rivers 3,239 and Hoke O'Kelley 2,048.

For lieutenant governor they gave Frank Gross 16,828, Marvin Griffin 16,316, Dr. L. N. Huff 14,770, M. E. Thompson 19,323, Spence Grayson 8,226 and Belmont Dennis 4,653.

Other results follow: Secretary of State—Ben W. Fortson 53,773, Napier Burson 15,654. State Treasurer—George Hamilton 52,017, Arlie D. Tucker 17,578, Comptroller General—Zack D. Cravey 39,392, E. B. Dykes 28,415. Attorney General—Eugene Cook 53,189, Edwin R. Kimsey 18,016. School Superintendent—M. D. Collins 52,439, J. E. Manning 23,377. Commissioner of Agriculture—Tom Linder 23,918, J. C. Manning 36,035. Commissioner of Labor—Ben T. Huet 36,400, Harry E. Monroe 33,688. Public Service Commission—Walter R. McDonald 45,326, Tom Durant 21,937, Glenn Allen 16,929, Allen Chappell 31,362, William P. White 19,772.

Court of Appeals—Earl W. Butler 12,461, Robert E. Church 10,515, Judge Hugh McIntyre 42,048. In the separate Fulton County School bond election, the $2,500,000 issue carried by 22,481 votes to 2,567 against.

Georgia Peaches Bring
$10,000,000 This Year

MACON, July 18—Georgia peach growers will receive approximately $10,000,000 from sales of the fuzzy fruit this season, according to an estimate made by W. C. Bewley, President of the Georgia Fruit Growers Exchange.

Bewley said Georgia shipments are expected to total about 8,000 carloads of peaches by the end of the season. He explained that at least 7,000 carloads have already moved from Georgia packing sheds and 300 or 400 more are to be shipped from North Georgia within the next few weeks.

He termed this a "good year and a bad year for growers." He said this year's crop was smaller than in 1945, and was also hit heavily by rain and insects just at maturity. Bewley said the size and quality of the Georgia peaches suffered heavily and that interstate shipments fell off as a result.

The Fruit Exchange President pointed out that on the good side of the balance sheet that more peaches than ever before were sold to Georgia processors. He said 2,000 carloads of fruits were sold to processing plants, and that this is an excellent trend.

Britain Protests
Action of Russia

LONDON, July 18—(AP)—Britain has sent a note of protest to Moscow, complaining of extreme and unwarranted interference in the internal affairs of Hungary, the Foreign Office said Thursday.

A spokesman said the representation followed Russian demands for dismissal of the Vice Minister of Justice and for withdrawal of immunity for three small-holder deputies the Soviets accused of anti-Russian statements.

Vets Defeat
Two Baldwin
Legislators

Constitution State News Service.

MILLEDGEVILLE, July 18—

Milledgeville's two veteran Baldwin County Legislators were defeated in Wednesday's primary.

Capt. J. H. Ennis, member of the Legislature from Baldwin County for more than 30 years, was defeated by a young war veteran, J. L. Sibley Jennings.

In the race for the other legislative post, E. Culver Kidd, veteran of the South Pacific campaign, won over Marion Ennis, who had represented this county in the Legislature since 1936.

Both of the ex-soldiers waged a vigorous campaign under sponsorship of the Baldwin County Development Committee.

Kidd was wounded at Okinawa and was hospitalized for several months. He is owner of Culver Kidd Drug Company here. Jennings is a local insurance man.

The figures on the number of votes received had not been released pending outcome of a hearing on a challenge of Negro votes here, but will not affect the outcome of these offices as both the nominees had a majority of white ballots cast.

Doctors Tap
Hughes' Lung.
Drain Fluid

LOS ANGELES, July 18—(AP)—

A medical bulletin on the condition of Howard Hughes, issued early Thursday, said it was found necessary Wednesday night to tap Hughes' left chest and remove more than a quart of fluid.

Drs. Verne Mason and Lawrence Chaffin reported that otherwise the condition of the millionaire aircraft builder and film producer was unchanged since he was reported improved Wednesday and told Dr. Mason: "I feel better than I have since I was injured."

Hughes suffered a crushed lung and other injuries when an Army photo reconnaissance plane he was testing crashed July 7.

100-MPH Typhoon Hits Hongkong, Then Goes to Sea

HONG KONG, July 18—(P)—A typhoon lashed Hong Kong for three hours Thursday, then moved on to the southwest after wrecking six ships, destroying communications and sending huge waves and water sprays two stories high over the road fronting the harbor. There was no loss of life. Several barges with people aboard were reported adrift, but no casualties had been tallied thus far. Officials said they were unable to estimate the damage to the British crown colony caused by high winds that ranged in velocity from 60 to 100 miles an hour.

Inner Hong Kong, sheltered by tall buildings, escaped the brunt of the blow, but continuing rains caused many to abandon automobiles, trucks and jeeps in flooded streets. Water was waist deep at the Mein entrance to the Navy Yard before the storm struck.

American and British Naval vessels departed for the open sea, preferring to take their chances there than in the harbor. Twelve or more passengers and cargo vessels elected to remain in the harbor. Hundreds of junks and sampans scurried to safety in typhoon shelters.

The wrecked ships included two British craft and a Chinese river boat that piled up on Stone-cutter's Island near Kowloon. The 2,134-ton British ship Taiposhan which ran aground Tuesday near Swatow, 150 miles up the coast, was battered to pieces. Ships driven ashore included the Unica and Kavikan, both believed to belong to the Norwegian shipping firm Karsten Larrasen.

Three Known Dead In Luzon's Typhoon

MANILA, July 18—(P)—Three persons, one a month-old baby, died and six others are missing in the typhoon which swept Northern Luzon Island Tuesday.

Widespread damage was reported at the mountain resort town of Baguio and at nearby Camp John Hay of the U. S. Army.

A woman was killed in the Baguio wreckage and a baby was buried alive in a landslide. In Manila Harbor a seaman was swept away by the storm and drowned, and four fishermen are missing. Two others missing, in the Baguio area, were believed to have drowned in flash floods which turned creeks to raging rivers.

Communications throughout the northern section of Luzon were badly disrupted with estimates ranging up to 30 days before repairs could be completed.

Light Peach Sales Reported

Constitution State News Service. Sales of Georgia peaches were too few at leading points Wednesday to establish a market, according to a special peach report from the Production and Marketing Administration.

The Georgia harvest is practically over, with a light volume only expected to move in the next week or so from North Georgia. In the Spartanburg, S. C., area, demand was good and the market steady, with U. S. Number One Elbertas, 2-inch and up, bringing $3 a bushel; 1 3/4-inch minimum, $1.75 to $2.25. In the Ridge Section Number One Elbertas, 2-inch and larger, brought $3, with some selling at $2.75 a bushel basket.

At Hamlet, N. C., and nearby loading points, the peach market was slightly weaker on Elbertas and dull for others. Bushel baskets of U. S. Number One Elbertas, 2 1/4 inches and up, moved at $3; 2-inch and up were mostly around $2.75, with a few fine quality as high as $3; 1 3/4-inch brought mostly $2, with a few to $2.25.

Carlot shipments of peaches in the United States Wednesday totaled 505 cars, with Georgia shipping 79, North Carolina 77, and South Carolina 293.

Mead Protests British 'Cruelty' in Palestine

WASHINGTON, July 18—(P)—Sen. Mead, Democrat, New York, protested to the Senate Thursday what he called "the cruel actions" of the British Government in Palestine.

Asserting that the British Army "is engaged in a campaign of terrorism" in Palestine, Mead told his colleagues the United States should send no troops there.

Funeral Rites Set Today for J. Regenstein, Sr.

Funeral services for Joseph Regenstein, Sr., 71, Executive Vice President of Regenstein's, Inc., who died Wednesday, will be held at 11:30 a. m. today at Spring Hill, with Dr. David Marx officiating. Burial will be in West View Cemetery.

Palbearers will be W. J. Carter, Melvin F. Schwarz, H. Z. Hopkins, James N. Keelin, Oby T. Brewer, Zach Layfield, John L. Connor, W. C. Drake, Russell G. Baker and George W. Bourke.

Honorary pallbearers will be John M. Slaton, Alvin Cates, James L. Dickey, Dr. W. Earl Quillian, Julius V. Boehm and W. B. Griffith.

A native of Atlanta, Mr. Regenstein attended Boys High School. He was a veteran of more than 50 years with the firm which was founded by his father, Julius Regenstein. He was also a partner in the Mirror, another women's apparel store.

Mr. Regenstein was active in civic affairs—a member of the Civitan Club and a participant in War Bond and other campaigns. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margaret Anderson Regenstein; two sons, Joseph and Lt. Col. Robert Regenstein; a brother, Louis Regenstein; two sisters, Mrs. Morris Wolff, of Montgomery, Ala., and Mrs. E. A. Cerf, and a stepdaughter, Miss Barbara Anderson.

RECORD LIVESTOCK SHIPMENT FINDS CATTLE, HOGS DYING OF HEAT EN ROUTE

OMAHA, July 18—(AP)—Truck lines so long that cattle and hogs died in the hot sun brought an estimated 11,500 cattle and 12,000 hogs to the Omaha market Thursday—resulting in a partial falloff in current high prices.

Pres. Harry B. Coffee of Upson Stock Yards Company said it was impossible to move the livestock fast enough to prevent loss and said it was unfortunate such a heavy run should develop during hot weather.

Employees of Union Stock Yards Company hooked hose to city fireplugs to play water on overheated livestock in the waiting lines of trucks, which were guided by State Highway Patrolmen.

Although a new high cattle price was set for the third straight day—$26.50 for Iowa fed choice steers—prices generally were considerably down from Wednesday.

"Heavy receipts are now beginning to force prices down," Coffee said.

J. D. Clarke, Tampa, Dies; Wife Atlantan

James Duncan Clarke, of Tampa, Fla., President of the Peninsula Paper Company, died at his home Wednesday.

His wife is the former Miss Caro Sharp, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Sharp, of Atlanta. In addition, he is survived by two sons, James D. Clarke, Jr. and Richard Hardwick Clarke. Funeral services will be held this afternoon in Tampa.

Moves for New Trial

J. E. Gifford, Sr., Dies, Aged 75; Rites Today

MARIETTA—James Ernest Gifford, Sr., 75, of 300 Maple Ave., died yesterday at the Marietta Hospital after a short illness.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. today at the chapel of Mayes Ward & Company, with the Rev. John B. Tate and the Rev. Tim Holbrook officiating. Burial will be in the Mountain View Cemetery.

Mr. Gifford was a member of the First Methodist Church for 30 years, coming to Marietta from Atlanta 30 years ago. He had retired from the real estate business about 10 years ago.

Survivors are four sons, Charles Gifford, of Marietta; Ernest Gifford, Jr., Seattle, Wash.; Otis and Eugene Gifford, of Marietta; one daughter, Mrs. G. S. Randolph, of Baton Rouge, La.

County Popular Vote In Governor's Race

The vote by counties in Wednesday's gubernatorial race, as reported by the Associated Press.

ONE MILAM THUMB DOWN ON CRAVEY

Zack D. Cravey is pretty happy over being elected Comptroller General in Wednesday's primary, and he appreciates all the votes he got. But he's proudest of the ballots cast for him in his home town.

Down at Milan, where Cravey grew up and his mother still lives, there were 710 votes cast. Of these, 709 went to Cravey.

"When folks who know you like they know me vote like that, it makes a man feel mighty good," he said last night. "They don't vote accidentally when they know you personally."

Ex-GI Loses Fight To Escape Jail

WASHINGTON, July 18—(UP)—Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson Thursday refused to stay the execution of Earl McFarland, swagging ex-Marine assaulter-slayer of a 18-year-old Government girl.

The youthful veteran of Guadalcanal is scheduled to be electrocuted Friday in the District jail, from which he once escaped with the aid of a can opener.

"What I need now is that good fried chicken I get Friday—and a good can opener," the 25-year-old slayer told U. S. marshals as he lost another round in his legal fight to escape death in the electric chair.

TALMADGE

By two score years ago, Talmadge opposed the Negro vote. He campaigned for restoration of it to the white people only.

He advised "wise Negroes" to stay away from the polls.

Carmichael had pleaded with he voters to let the Negroes vote. He based his plea on the argument that to keep them from voting would mean the repeal of all laws regulating primaries. This would leave the way open, he said, for fraud in elections without possible recourse; it would mean, more, he declared, that the county unit system of election would be in danger of falling before a plan for machine politics in which the populous counties could control State politics and weaken the voice of the smaller counties.

Above all, he based his plea on protecting the county unit vote system. Ironically, he has thus far obtained a larger popular vote than Talmadge. Heavy majorities in his home county, in Fulton and other large city counties gave him this lead in the popular vote.

Indications are that his popular vote will not be a majority of the total vote cast. The vote of Talmadge, Rivers and O'Kelley will equal more than half the votes, but Carmichael's still will be larger than Talmadge's. Without the unit system, which he pledged to maintain, Carmichael would have won over Talmadge.

Exactly how Talmadge will finally decide to re-establish the white primary without fear of being overruled by the Supreme Court is not known. The plan will involve taking laws off State statute books, as was done in South Carolina. How he will guarantee the county unit system also is to be decided. One plan is to have the State Democratic Executive Committee adopt the rule with a required four-fifths vote of the State Democratic Convention to change it.

LANHAM

Rome Board of Education, he said he had always had a sympathy and regard for school teachers and their needs.

Veterans, Lanham recalls now, added their weight too. At least they jumped on his band wagon as soon as he announced his candidacy, and they contributed many a man hour to aiding and abetting his victory.

A graduate of the University of Georgia with a masters degree from Harvard, Lanham wears a Phi Beta Kappa key and is known for his scholarly, but quiet, demeanor in court. He is 58 years old—three years younger than the man he defeated for Congress. He has one daughter, Mrs. Julia Anne Slappey, of Albany, and his wife was the former Anne White Phinizy.

His disciplined manner holds in all walks of life, having guided him through a stewardship there, say, of the Methodist Church, the presidency of the Rome Kiwanis Club, and four terms as Floyd County's representative in the State Assembly. His only weakness, his acquaintances will tell you, is his tendency to uncontrolled anger when he is goaded beyond endurance by erring people, especially those who use the word "liar" to describe him.

"I would hate to get in his way then," his secretary says.

x—Indicates vote incomplete.

Derby Race Inspection Set Monday

Inspection of Soap Box Derby racers will begin Monday and continue through Thursday.

Monday the inspection of the racers will be held from 10 a. m. to noon at the Decatur Chevrolet Company, 243 West Ponce de Leon Ave., Decatur; Tuesday, 10 a. m. to noon at the East Point Chevrolet Company, 614 N. Main St., East Point; Wednesday, same time at the John Smith Co., 536 West Peachtree St., and Thursday, same time at the Downtown Chevrolet Company, 329 Whitehall St., Southwest.

The boys must accompany their racing cars to answer questions during the inspection.

The All-American Soap Box Derby is sponsored by The Constitution, the Chevrolet Division of General Motors and the local Chevrolet dealers, and will be run July 26 and 27 on South Boulevard.

Four Derby boys from this year's crop of entries will be interviewed by John Fulton at 6 o'clock to night over WGST.

Stands To Be Built At Spalding Hi Field

GRiffin, July 18—County School Supt. J. P. King has announced that approximately a fifth of the money needed to build stands at Spalding High School's Flynt Field already has been raised.

A meeting has been called for Thursday night to further discuss the project. Charles Brooks was named chairman of the organization which will solicit funds and Jack Flynt and Fred Kelley were named co-chairmen.

votes to 10 for his war veteran opponent, J. N. Peacock, Jr., in the Second District. Cox had a total popular vote of 24,338, and Peacock, 21,390.

The veteran Congressman, Carl Vinson, apparently had won his race in the Sixth District. Vinson rolled up a total of 38 unit votes and a popular incomplete total of 35,589. His opponent, Harvey Roughton, Sandersville, farmer and businessman, had 12,334 popular votes but did not carry a county.

Rep. John Wood in the Ninth received an apparent 40-unit vote total on the basis of late returns to none for H. T. Oliver. Wood gathered a popular total of 34,512 to 13,195 for Oliver.

Congressman Steve Pace, of the Third; Sidney Camp, of the Fourth, and Paul Brown, of the Tenth, were unopposed.

Senate-House Conferees On Silver Are Instructed

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP)—Senate and House conferees on legislation to sell Government-owned silver to industry went back to their respective chambers Thursday for further instructions.

A tentative agreement on a price of 90.5 cents an ounce went by the boards when the conference failed to settle the time element. The House, in its bill calling for sale at 71.11 cents, set a limit of two years as the life of the legislation. The Senate proposed $1.29 after two years of sales at 90.5 cents, but settled on 90.5, without a time limitation.

NOW FOLKS HAVE ENOUGH T-SHIRTS

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP)—The Civilian Production Administration Thursday canceled a requirement that manufacturers set aside cotton yarn for polo shirts and so-called "T" shirts.

The reason: Supply and demand now are in balance, CPA said.

Peron Says Argentine Must Back U. S. in Wars

BUENOS AIRES, July 18—(AP)—Pres. Juan Peron was quoted by the newspaper La Prensa Thursday as declaring in a recent speech that in event of another world war Argentina must enter it quickly on the side of the American republics.

The report said the new president, speaking to Peronista members of the Congress, said "his government desired to remain at the side of other nations of the hemisphere, especially the United States."

Butterworth Promoted

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP)—William Walton Butterworth, Jr., of New Orleans, Counselor at the American Embassy in Nanking, China, has been given the personal rank of Minister, the State Department announced. He will not actually be the Minister, however.

and a popular return of 83,344. He led the entries in four counties.

Spence Grayson, veteran Chattahoochee County legislator, had a possible 40,001 popular votes and 8 county unit votes. He led in 2 counties.

Belmont Dennis, Covington newspaper publisher, had an indicated two unit votes, a popular vote of 27,490 and led in one county.

This is the first time that Georgians have voted on the office of Lieutenant-Governor. The new job created under the recently approved State Constitution pays $2,000 annually and is a part-time position. Principal function of the post is presiding over the State Senate.

Tyrone Planning Vets' Reunion

Constitution State News Service.

TYRONE, July 18—The Rev. W. P. Allison, Fulton County Chaplain and former U. S. Army Chaplain, will be the principal speaker at the Confederate Memorial Reunion Service to be observed here at 11 a. m. Friday.

Veterans from all wars in which the United States has participated are invited to attend. Special recognition will be given veterans of World War II.

This reunion has been held on the third Friday in July since 1865. A lunch will be served at noon. Chairman of the Reunion Committee is the Rev. W. R. Stinchcomb.

Fire Threatens Business Block

An alert city patrolman plus efficient work by Atlanta's Fire Department are due credit for the prevention of a major fire in the downtown business section yesterday morning, according to A. H. Curry, of the Curry Brothers Printing Company, 50 Alabama St., S. W.

Patrolman W. J. Nelms noticed a small quantity of smoke issuing from the printing establishment at 2:45 a. m. and called the fire department.

Firemen stated the fire had apparently started from an overheated glue pot on the second floor of the building.

Curry estimated the loss in excess of $20,000, and stated that scarce printing equipment was destroyed in addition to books, picture frames and bindings.

Revival Held

GRiffin, July 18—Revival services are being held at the Church of God. The Rev. Charles Clark is conducting the services.

State Post For Hornsby Rumor Denied

Rumors that Atlanta's Police Chief, M. A. Hornsby, is under consideration by the Talmadge headquarters for the post of State Director of Public Safety have been denied.

Roy Harris, speaking for Talmadge headquarters, said yesterday Hornsby's name had not been mentioned.

"However, if the head of a large police department like that in the City of Atlanta should be interested in the post of State Director of Public Safety he certainly would be considered," Harris said.

Chief Hornsby's office said he was out for the afternoon, and he could not be reached for comment.

Tom Arnold Joins VA In Public Relations Job

Appointment of Tom Arnold as Chief of the Field Division in Public Relations for Branch No. 5, Veterans' Administration, has been announced by John M. Slattery, Jr., Deputy Administrator.

Arnold succeeds John M. Burns, II, who was named Director of Public Relations on April 1. VA Branch 5 has its headquarters in the old Bell Bomber Plant.

Arnold, a veteran of Georgia, Florida and Texas newspapers, was formerly editor of the Marietta Journal and city editor of the old Atlanta Georgian. His new post includes heading public relations programs at the seven Regional Offices and the hospitals in the VA Branch 5 area.

Ramey Returned To Legislature

Constitution State News Service.

SUMMERVILLE, July 18—In Wednesday's Democratic Primary, H. Grady Ramey was renominated Representative in the Legislature over his opponent, L. B. Harrell, former minister of the gospel, by a majority of only nine votes.

Ramey received 2,228 votes and Harrell 2,219. There will be two run-off races for members of the Board of Roads and Revenue.

In the Summerville District, Dr. W. B. Hair and Clyde Harlow were caught in a run-off, being the two highest candidates in a four-way race, and at Menon, Claude Baker and G. A. Kling polled more votes than their other two opponents, but will have to abide by the run-off, which will be held July 31.

Two old Board members were renominated, F. A. Justice at Trion, and Claude Floyd at Lyle. H. B. Hix lost in his bid for renomination in the eastern part of the county to Homer B. Gordon.

C. D. Rivers was renominated for Judge of the Chattooga County City Court without opposition.

BULLET HALTS CUPID'S PLANS

LONDON, July 18—(AP)—Twenty-six-year-old Ralph Rose, a demobilized New York GI just returned to England to marry an English girl, died in a London hospital Wednesday after being injured at a rifle range.

Police said Rose was shooting at clay pigeons in an amusement gallery when he suddenly dropped with a bullet wound in the forehead. Investigators expressed the opinion the cartridge exploded backward through the rifle breech. He died two hours later.

AT&T To Improve Atlanta-N. Y. Lines

Increased telephone facilities between New York and Atlanta appears to be in the offing.

The Federal Communications Commission has authorized the American Telephone & Telegraph Company and four other companies to spend $6,217,000 on their lines between New York and Atlanta, the United Press announced yesterday from Washington.

Officials of the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company here, however, said they had not yet been notified of the FCC decision.

We Share Mr. Talmadge's Ambition

Though returns continue incomplete, it is apparent Eugene Talmadge for the fourth time has been elected Governor of Georgia.

Under Georgia's county unit system, Mr. Talmadge will receive the Democratic nomination, although it now seems that his opponent, James V. Carmichael, will receive the most popular votes.

On the Local Races and Bond Issue

The overwhelming vote which residents of Fulton County gave the proposed two and a half million dollar bond issue is encouraging to all friends of education. The bonds will enable the county to provide badly needed school facilities, and it is a source of satisfaction that the people have recognized and moved to meet the need.

The self-same good judgment was evidenced by Fulton County voters in returning to office the three members of the local legislative delegation who were standing for re-election. State Sen. Everett Millican and Reps. Paul Etheridge and W. C. Kendrick have served this county's interests admirably over a period of years and it was proper that they should be accorded continuing terms.

As for Mugsy Smith, while a newcomer in politics, he has served various community causes with such zest and intelligence that we are certain he will fill the Mankin vacancy with credit to his county and himself. It is, all in all, a splendid delegation—and one which, unless we miss our guess, will faithfully represent the people of Fulton in the Georgia General Assembly.

Unions Should Set High Standards

The organization drives of labor unions in the South are current topics for articles in the national magazines. The article on the CIO in the current Saturday Evening Post is an example.

As a whole, the South is sympathetic to the labor movement. But, before another wholesale round-up of workers is made, the Union movement needs time to take stock and consolidate the gains of the war era.

It is high time that the Unions make their standard of workmanship the symbol of the best that money can buy.

When union labor is hired by an employer, that employer should be able to forget about workmanship, to know confidently that the finished product will be the best American labor can produce. The Union should be composed of craftsmen who are interested in giving the best job. The union standard of workmanship should be high, and kept high by purging from membership any worker who cannot maintain that high quality of workmanship.

Today substandard workmanship, in many instances, is being crammed down an employer's throat to the discredit of the union movement.

We are entering a new era in our national life. The Union should grow up now. Today is the time for the Union to make its membership card a badge of honor.

Confidently we say that if Unions make quality of workmanship a requisite for membership, and continued membership, then Unions need have no further worry about membership. Employers will then seek out union employees, knowing that they are paying good wages and getting quality workmanship—and, above all, that once the job is contracted, the Union will see it completed according to high standards.

"Union-Made" or "Union-Built" should be a guarantee of the finest.

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

Why Numbered?

Editor Constitution: I wonder if you could explain to me the use of the numbered ballot such as we had given to us in Fulton County for the school bond issue. The ballot was headed with the phrase "Secret Australian Ballot." It was not secret and I doubt if it qualifies as an Australian ballot.

In speaking to the election of official, he told me that any interested party who might have access to the ballot box, which was deposited in the box, Fulton County is one of those which have adopted the unnumbered ballot and we are unable to understand why it was necessary to number the school bond ballots.

I wonder why this question was not voted on through the use of the voting machine. They can be used for a question of that sort just as easily as they can for a candidate.

I have used numbered ballots before but the numbered coupon was removed in the presence of the election official and the unnumbered ballot stub placed in the ballot box, thus guaranteeing secrecy of the ballot.

It is because someone may have an interest in checking these ballots later that machines were not used and ballots cast with the identifying numbered coupons kept on the ballots.

Atlanta. F. H. EVANS.

Secret Ballot?

Editor Constitution: At the polls today I was identified at the gate outside the building and again inside. My name was then written on the stub of the ballot given to me, the stub and ballot having the same number. I voiced my surprise and my objection that we did not have a secret ballot. I asked the men who were managing the polls why it was like that and who was responsible. The men said the State Voting Committee made the law and that they were only responsible for seeing that it was carried out.

Can we not have a real secret ballot? It is not possible to cast a vote for all candidates. And it would be a great consolation to the voter to know that it was strictly his own business how he voted. A real secret ballot would do a great deal toward promoting good will.

I would like some comment from the "State Committee" on the voting laws. MARY ROBERTS, Demorest, Ga.

(Editor's Note: Ballots in many Georgia counties are numbered so that a check may be made in case of a contest or recount. However, a number of the more progressive counties have taken advantage of a law passed a few years ago whereby, upon the recommendation of a County may leave the number off the actual ballot, placing it only upon the registration book and ballot stub which is not deposited in the box. Fulton County is one of those which have adopted the unnumbered ballot and we are unable to understand why it was necessary to number the school bond ballots.)

Pegler Inspired?

Editor Constitution: I am a native Georgian, past 77. I have been wondering about labor disputes, and their ultimate effect on the body politic. I have been an admirer of Franklin D. Roosevelt's efforts to ameliorate the economic status of the "common people." I have marveled at the diatribes of one Westbrook Pegler against Mr. Roosevelt and members of his family. I surmised that he was unable to find other topics, due to paucity of ideas. But there was one other unfailing topic, but which he linked with Roosevelt—LABOR. Of late I have wondered if his venom derived from prejudice, or whether actually, unknown to himself, he was inspired.

I am beginning to think, when reflecting upon the successive strikes that there is some central authority behind it all, designed to eventually overthrow the government of the United States of America. Else why, seeing that the labor movement is concentrated in the hands of AFL and CIO—in short, largely unified, why, if labor thinks it has grievances of a legitimate character, the two unions do not get together, call one great strike and have the agony over with, and end the strife.

In my reading some one wrote: "All powerful things eventually destroy themselves." The unions seemingly think they are all-powerful. I am puzzled to know which is the stronger, the unions or the government of the United States. W. T. GLOVER, Americus.

Need More Peglers

Editor Constitution: If there were more Peglers in the world, more men who had the guts to stand for right no matter where the chips fell and were more concerned with the good of the world than what their personal gain might amount to, we would not be in the turmoil we are in today. We need more Peglers and less weak-kneed sisters. GERALD W. CORNELIUS, Highland, N. C.

Pegler's Not Afraid

Editor Constitution: I'm for Pegler! He's not afraid to write the truth. Your Ralph McGill once wrote that Pegler is a good reporter—meaning, I take it, that you can depend on what he writes as being true. If what he wrote was false, he would not doubt have been tried and convicted of libel. The trouble with a lot of these labor unions gangsters and New Dealers is the truth hurts them so much they can hardly stand it. R. F. SAMS, Clarkston.

Unchallenged

Editor Constitution: Many people don't like Westbrook Pegler because they don't like the truth. It hurts them to see in print the many unethical political moves of Franklin Roosevelt. They do not trouble themselves to think back to the source whence all our labor troubles, Supreme Court scandals and rule-by-the-majority sprang. That source was, of course, Roosevelt—the same man who made such a joke of Southern traditions and more especially the South's segregation laws. But, as Pegler says, Roosevelt was at least consistent. From the mass divorces in his immediate family to his placing unlimited power in the hands of wicked labor leaders, the story follows straight through. It is not easy for some people to bear the exposure of the spotty character that lay behind the smiling, jovial friend of the masses, Roosevelt. But if a person desires the truth, he should read Pegler. The most harsh of his accusations against the late President have gone unchallenged by the Roosevelt family. THERE IS MY ANSWER. WILLIAM L. EMBRY, 282 Oxford Pl., N. E.

The 'Fers and Agins'

Editor Constitution: All these folks writing in, telling you to get rid of Pegler... why, don't they know they are the ones who keep him where he is? A columnist, or his editor, doesn't care whether folks agree with him or despise him, just so he draws some sort of response from the readers. I can see his editor right now, gleefully counting the letters, not separating the "fers and agins." "Peg" is a shy fellow, and couldn't dare say the things he writes, if you get what I mean. I'm not a Roosevelt lover or hater, and I think some of his attacks on Mrs. Roosevelt rather poor taste, but if a woman gets into a man's game, she must expect the same mud-slinging another man would get. Mr. Pegler has the courage of his convictions. Have you? Come, come now... I mean to the extent he has? FRANCES DUDLEY, Decatur.

RALPH MCGILL

Well, I'll Tell You

Since I was in there with my coat off swinging as hard as I could, it is but natural, I suppose, there are those who wonder how the results of the primary of July 17 affected me.

I do not mean those characters with mean, festering little minds who call up to say obscene things, but those on the other side who were in there swinging, too. They won. And they would like to know how it went with me.

It went hard. It made me feel pretty sick. It was a bitter pill to swallow. There was very little sugar, if any, on it. At least I didn't taste any as the pill went down.

I don't like to lose. I don't guess anyone does. Losing goes awfully hard with me. But I was on the losing side. I did all I could. It wasn't enough. And that's how I felt. I hope that covers it. Mr. Eugene Talmadge said he wants to be a good Governor. That was my ticket. I hope he will be. I won't do anything in opposition to that platform. So much for that.

Decision I would be less than honest if I did not say, in this recapitulation, that I believe the issue which gave Mr. Talmadge his victory was presented in a manner which deceived the people.

There never was any deep, dark racial plot. There was no one advocating, or wanting to advocate, mixing races. There would not have been any attempt to mix the races in schools, to propose any equality save equality of opportunity, education and equality before the law.

Nevertheless, many normally common-sense persons, largely in South Georgia, where most of the Negro population is, were made afraid. They didn't really believe the awful picture presented them, but they were uncertain and fearful and they took no chances. Tensions and fears do no State anything but harm, and I would not hesitate to make the same choice over again.

I hope they can be allayed. None can say the voting was anything but orderly.

Explanation As to why Mr. Talmadge was able to win so definite a victory, the chief reason has been advanced above. The people were made afraid of the Negro issue. That is 98 percent of the explanation.

Ed Rivers had the most positive, but somewhat extravagant, platform. James Carmichael had an excellent one and a sound one. But Mr. Talmadge talked only one issue.

Another factor was Roy Harris. Those who have followed these pieces of mine know that often in the past I have expressed lavish praise of Roy Harris' ability as a behind-the-scenes manager of a political campaign. There isn't one as good as he in Georgia. I have never believed he would make a good candidate. But if I were a political candidate in Georgia I'd want him in my corner if I wanted to win and you may put it down he was very useful indeed in handling things. The technique of election-night stampedes is his specialty. He is a very handy person to have around. I thought, too, that Herman Talmadge handled the general aspects of the campaign for the winner with an expert hand.

The Rivers campaign simply never got off the ground. It was a bitter and hard-fought campaign. It should have been. There was bitterness and hard blows on each side and I would think everyone knows that. That seems to be the sort of campaigns we have in Georgia. I noted that Herman Talmadge mentioned the prejudice injected by the other side. That's all right. He won. It was about even-Stephen.

It will be a great tragedy if the winner goes through with his announced plan to abolish all the primary election laws. Let us hope that calmer reason will prevail.

The county-unit system is sure to be largely discussed. It is probable Carmichael will poll about 40,000 more votes than his opponent and yet lose by a big margin.

That's about it. As a Democrat, I did all I could in a Democratic primary and lost. I am still a Democrat.

RALPH T. JONES

Most Interesting Election Day Yet

Well, at this writing (Thursday morning), it seems pretty certain that our choice in the gubernatorial stakes was beaten. Mathematically, the odds are just about hopeless.

Well, if there was no element of chance, either in politics or in racing, there'd be no fun in either.

It is up to all the folks who didn't vote for Talmadge to accept the outcome in good grace and to continue working for, and hoping for, the advancement of Georgia.

Our Day Was Quiet Personally, the day was a quiet one. Everyone eligible to do so, in our families, voted.

The top lady and I went to the courthouse in Decatur a little before 10 Wednesday morning. The lines of waiting voters extended all down the stairs from the second floor and halfway along the downstairs hall at that time. It took us about 30 minutes to wait our turn, get our ballots, mark 'em, put 'em in the box and leave. I should guess there were about a score of Negroes in line. While we were there they were allotted a separate line from the white voters. There was, of course, no reason for anything unpleasant and there was none. Everybody moved quietly and orderly along and that was that.

The top lady and I did not mark our ballots identically. On the main race, yes, but there was a slight divergence otherwise. In the evening, at home, we listened to the radio reports. The younger members wanted to make something of a party of the occasion, so we procured a large, cold watermelon and interrupted our report-listening to enjoy it.

About midnight I went to bed and to sleep, disappointed, I'll admit, at the way the reports were running, but knowing I could do nothing about it, anyway.

Poor Night My night was poor. Some folks seemed to have the idea I'd be up and around all night. The telephone kept ringing. Each time I'd manage to get to sleep, that phone bell would awaken me. Some sought reassurance that there was still a chance for Carmichael. Others wanted to crow over the apparent victory of their man, Talmadge. I couldn't help either side. I'm afraid, around 3 o'clock, I may have sounded a trifle impatient to some of my callers. If so, I apologize and hope they understand it was nothing but the inevitable irritability of a man needlessly disturbed from his sleep.

Now it is Thursday forenoon. Probably the primary result has nothing to do with it, but there is no sunshine at the moment. It is raining. Not heavily; the men are continuing work on the new building across the street.

Will Go On Perhaps that is significant; the work goes on. Georgians always get very excited about their politics. Perhaps too excited. Yet it seemed to me, and still does, that the issues in the recent campaign were of fundamental importance. Personally, I was fearful—and still am—of what may happen with Talmadge again Governor. His past record in that office, to my mind, is good ground for fear.

Yet it may turn out differently. It is well within the cards that an older Gene will be more stable, emotionally. It may be the years have mellowed him and he will be content to act quietly and steadily in manner which will reflect only good on the name of his State.

Anyway, I am sure the Carmichael supporters will be—when the last mathematical hope of victory is gone—good losers. They were good, clean campaigners and of such are good losers made. I expect, by the time you see this, they will have accepted the verdict which now appears inevitable.

It is the verdict of the people of Georgia, freely given. As such, all good Georgians must accept it. There should be comfort for Jimmie Carmichael in the knowledge he led the field in popular vote. In any other State he would already be the victor.

But he entered the race knowing the county unit vote system prevails in Georgia and ran on that basis. The unit vote system is, in many respects, a good system. It may appear unfair when the candidate with substantial majority in popular vote is still the loser. But there is nothing unfair about any competition when all entrants know and accept the rules governing when they enter the contest. Be it politics, business or sports event.

Now, let's all pull together to move Georgia nearer the wonderful future which can be hers if her people prove worthy.

Loyalty Isn't Easy To Find

Once upon a time, in the city of Pittsburgh, a 10-year-old boy came down the steps of a library, with a book under one arm, just in time to see an older and larger boy slapping and maltreating his little 6-year-old brother.

Without a moment's pause for reflection, he leaped to the sidewalk and went into action. He fought until he was down and helpless, and his little brother got safely away.

Some minutes later he stood in a narrow alley, wiping the blood from his face, when the little brother appeared. Standing at a safe distance, the little one jeered: "Yah! Yah! Yah! You got licked didn't you?"

That nasty little guy probably grew up to be a columnist who can't understand Truman's loyalty because he himself has no capacity for such a feeling.

Blind loyalty is certainly not a virtue. Loyalty to Hitler prompted his aides to commit the foulest of crimes. The results of Truman's loyalty have not always been commendable. In some instances they have made some people a little sick.

But our subject is loyalty—not politics. Loyalty is a feeling—sometimes a passion—which is no more subject to control than love is. You can't decide to love somebody and then do it. You can't decide to feel loyal to somebody and thus become passionately loyal to him.

The capacity for loyalty may be born in you, or may be developed by experience. In either case you have the capacity or you haven't, and that is that. There are wholly selfish people who can't feel loyal to anything or anybody except themselves.

Roosevelt's much discussed loyalty to friends was unlike Truman's. He was the chief, and he felt loyal to his friends only so long as they went along with him. His early helpers dropped out one by one as they were unable to approve his policies, but he always found jobs for those who continued to agree with him.

Truman feels loyal to those who helped him in the past, no matter who or what they are. It isn't a matter of political agreement or political wisdom. They are his friends, and he is for them no matter what happens. He cannot help feeling loyal to them, any more than a father can help feeling loyal to his children.

In middle age, the thing we value most is loyal friendship—and the only way to get it is to give it. Even so, it is not easy to find. High place makes men lonely, and loyalty probably means more to Truman than it means to men of lower rank.

TOO MUCH MONEY

(Elberton Star)

According to best information more money has been spent in the political campaign which closes with the election tomorrow than in any campaign in the State's history. During this time the Government, the churches and the welfare organizations have been clamoring for money to feed the starving in other lands. It can be wondered if the people who spent this political money heeded the call of the hungry. There can be no best government until some way is found to curb the spending of so much money in political campaigns.

...And Where It Stops Nobody Knows

The United Auto Workers have filed notice of intent to submit new wage demands to the Chrysler Corporation in 60 days unless price controls are restored at June 30th levels.

It's a fast-moving economy when last week's hard-won pay scale is this week's inadequate wages.

And if, as seems apparent, we're to have a new wave of strikes each time prices go up, there'll be something new on the industrial scene—perpetual picketing.

Of course, you haven't really got all-out inflation until employer and employee have to sit down every morning and negotiate a contract covering that day's work.

But then, more and more Management-Labor difficulties are reminiscent of the old-time vaudeville house—the one, I mean, with the sign outside: "Continuous Performance."

Meanwhile, a thought for the poor consumer. He's going to be taken for a ride... and not, as he had hoped, in a new automobile.

GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

'Have Another One. On Morgenthau'

WASHINGTON—The Senate Mead Investigating Committee, in revealing the padded expense account practices of the Garsson munitions combine, has at last gotten around to an expose of a racket that was widespread and rampant during the war.

It was a racket that many or most of the war contractors and their agents participated in. Washington remembers it well because it flourished here to a greater extent, perhaps, than in any other city of the country. At some stage or another they all came here, these war contractors and their agents. Always they carried fat purses and they were free spenders. They came often. Many lingered long. They convulsed on Washington because, being the nerve center of the vast war effort, it was here that most of the great volume of war contracts was let.

Not all of them were expense account racketeers, to be sure. Many contractors and seekers of contracts came on legitimate business missions and restrained themselves within proper bounds. But it was here that the racket thrived more than in any other city because it was always possible to attach some business angle to expense incurred on a visit to the capital.

Racket It came to be known as the expense account racket for obvious reasons. Money spent on business missions in Washington was deductible as legitimate expense. War contractors were able to charge it off from gross earnings before taxes.

As it worked out, Uncle Sam paid the final bill. The Mead Committee revealed where the Garsson combine charged off an item of $19,000 as expense incurred in Washington for the purchase of liquor, lipsticks and vanity cases which were distributed as favors among the persons it entertained.

That is a sample of some of the practices that went on during the lush years. It was worse in the beginning than later on. After the War and Navy Departments began renegotiation of contracts many of the loose expense items were disallowed. Still later the Bureau of Internal Revenue demanded closer itemization of expenses.

But none of these steps were enough to wipe out the racket entirely. For the most part, it continued to flourish right up to the end of the war. There is no way of telling how much it cost the Government in added costs.

Many of these contractors or their agents moved into expensive suites at Washington's leading hotels. To make sure they would have accommodations waiting for them on their next trip, they arranged to keep them by the year. That is one reason why the hotel room situation was tighter here than in any other place in the country.

Food was served lavishly and liquor distributed freely to all who had entrée. Cost was no bother because it all went on the expense account, subsequently paid by Uncle Sam.

Hospitality Many of them took over big houses in the residential section, setting up offices and places of entertainment. In that way the housing shortage must have been affected. The best that was available in food and drinks was not good enough for their guests.

There was hardly any limit to the nature of entertainment provided. Hospitality was dispensed with a free hand—most of it at the cost of the taxpayer.

The tenor of it all is best illustrated by an incident that happened in the Mayflower cocktail lounge back in the heyday of the early war period. An executive of one of the big companies holding several hundred million dollars' worth of war contracts was entertaining a few friends. The number at his table increased as the afternoon wore on.

After every round of drinks some member of the party would reach for the check. The war contractor would crack each outstretched hand on the knuckle with the back of a spoon. "Have another one on Morgenthau" (former Secretary of the Treasury), he would say, resisting efforts of anyone else to grab the check. "Every time I spend a dollar on drinks," he explained, "it costs Morgenthau 80 cents."

By that he meant that it all went on the company expense accounts, to be deducted from gross earnings before taxes. If the company was in the top bracket, it resulted in a net loss to them of only a few cents on the dollar.

The Mead Committee would do well to expose more of the same type of racketeering. Certainly there is a fertile field for it.

"Some of the doom prophets who feared a world-wide catastrophe as result of the Bikini bombing, are now somewhat sheepish since their prediction failed."—Excerpt from radio comment.

We're here a little while, then go, our act is done, the lights burn low, And for each great catastrophe we fearfully expect to be Our portion in our little space of time, the small events we face Provide the tension and they rub and wear us down into a nub.

Few of us lose great fortunes, much as we would like to boast of such. Comparatively few will face some huge disaster or disgrace— The world is made of little things, the beggars far exceed the kings. The common run of people think alike, and what they eat and drink And what they do and how they die becomes forgotten by and by.

But this old planet whirls along and it will still be going strong When all of these, the great and the small, the events we face The world outlasts the famine flood, the wars that soak its soil with blood, The foolishness of master-minds, the schemes and laws of sundry kinds, The nitwit rabble-rousing words, drunk in by simple-minded herds—

And all of this would long ago have written "finis" to the show Except for this outstanding fact: we are just "supers" in the act. So let us put aside our fears, the world will last for many years, And there's a rainbow in the sky . . . we wonder why . . . we wonder why!

CHANNING COPE

Irrigation Is Big Help To Fall Gardens

This morning it is pleasantly cool here at Yellow River and the thought comes to us that with the arrival of Fall, there should arrive, likewise, that important adjunct to the family diet, the Fall and Winter garden. In many ways this garden is more important than the Summer one, for most of the markets, and particularly the various farmers' markets, are loaded down with fresh vegetables and fruits in the Summer time. This is not always true of the Fall and Winter markets.

Dry Fall weather is common in the Piedmont section of Georgia and during such periods, the bugs and insects are particularly destructive with the result that the whole garden falls of its own weight. To overcome this problem, many Georgians are turning to the irrigation of garden crops. In this is the only practicable way in which the weather problem can be successfully met. R. F. Sams, the vegetable expert, of Clarkston, states that there is no use trying to grow vegetables on a commercial basis without the use of irrigation. Mr. Sams ought to know, for he has been engaged in this type of farming for more than 20 years.

The Extension Service has recognized the importance of irrigation and has detailed an additional irrigation specialist to aid the farmers in setting up practicable systems. Elmo Ragsdale has long been helping the farmers solve their irrigation problems and now we have Everett H. Davis, whose entire time will be devoted to this same end. Normally, one thinks of irrigation as a commercial possibility. It is really even more important as a means of insuring proper diet for the family and neighbors. In the city, a large portion of the family income goes toward providing food and no one doubts the wisdom of this expenditure. Most folks would rather be well fed than well clothed. In the country, however, the garden has always been incidental to the main crop. One of the worst features of the all-cotton type of farming is that the garden is completely neglected while all available help is given to the cotton crop. This is true both of the Spring and the Fall.

Irrigation becomes then a matter of intense personal interest. On a very small plot of ground, one can grow an enormous amount of produce by its aid. Moreover, where moisture is assured, the gardener need not hesitate to use adequate amounts of well-balanced fertilizer. There is no danger of burning the crop. The same is true of the use of manure; enormous amounts of it may be used with outstanding results where there is ample moisture. This combination will insure better nutrition, likewise, for the plants can only absorb such minerals as are in the land and by the use of sufficient moisture which, in turn, makes possible adequate fertilization without harmful effects, the produce taken from such a garden will be extremely high in nutritive values.

What we need to say is that everyone of us should look into the possibilities of irrigation as a means to better living. Your County Agent will be glad to assist and will make the services of the Extension irrigation specialists available to you.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Amvets Report On Convention

NEW YORK—Thanks to some young veterans, members of the American Veterans' Committee, Inc., I have a copy of the official Bulletin, reporting on the recent first national convention in Des Moines. Two of the three were reluctant to let me have it, one of them remarking irrelevantly that they were not Communists, although he, himself, might be called a pink. I then pointed out that theirs was not a secret society—or was it?—and that it should not be difficult to get a copy from the national headquarters just by asking.

I think this sensitiveness is due to the presence of Communists in the organization and the raising of the issue of Communism at a meeting of the metropolitan council of the AVC in New York, last May.

This bulletin devotes an entire page to a juvenile boast about the press coverage of the Des Moines convention but the bulletin, itself, is more informative than all the current stories I read in the daily papers. Much of this journalism was propaganda for the AVC, larded with jibes at the undeniable misconduct of the American Legion at many of its disorderly national conventions between wars.

THE BULLETIN contains five photographs of Charles Dolte, the National Chairman; four of Gilbert Harrison, the Vice Chairman; three of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., two of Henry Wallace and one of Walter Reuther, President of the United Auto Workers, and the CIO. In this repetition of the pictures of leading personalities in the dominant political faction of the AVC, I observe a resemblance to the editorial character of union publications, notably the Pilot; the National Maritime Union, which often carries half a dozen cuts of Joe Curran, the President.

The tendency here is to aggrandize the persons in power and promote their policies in an official publication technically devoted to the interests of the organization. Mr. Wallace, now 58 years old, definitely did not serve in the second World War and his biography makes no mention of any service in the first one. Mr. Reuther, born in 1907, obviously could not have served in the first and did not serve in the second one although he was just 35 at a time when many other American men of the same age dropped everything to join up.

Both Wallace and Reuther addressed the convention and their remarks, serving their own political interests, are reported to the extent of half a page. The head on the Reuther story reads, "We're With You, Reuther tells convention delegates." The text contains no reminder that Reuther certainly was not with them in camp or at the front during the war or that his union ran up a record of record of strikes and slowdowns in automobile and airplane plants.

ANTICIPATING the resentment of war veterans against this phase of the UAW's performance, Reuther, in April of this year, proposed a bonus of not more than $3,500 for veterans without overseas service and, for overseas veterans, a minimum bonus of $500 and a maximum of $4,500. He also proposed unemployment salaries for veterans who had been thrown out of work by union strikes and the Des Moines convention adopted this idea in its platform. That plank calls for $25 a week for 26 weeks "for unemployment of all kinds, including time lost due to labor disputes."

In Reuther's case it will be seen that his union, with its enormous taxing power, would ingratiate itself with war veterans by tapping the public treasury for strike benefits, traditionally the responsibility of the striking union, and campaigning for bonuses. The Bulletin says the convention rejected a bonus proposal but that, I think, is a misleading interpretation of the resolution.

IT SAID the AVC would fight for a bonus if certain conditions are not met by Congress which obviously cannot be met. These are effective price control, guaranteed employment for every citizen and veteran and low cost housing for all. Some of these conditions are so ambiguous that the AVC can say that they have not been fulfilled, whatever Congress might do. Then, having made a mere gesture of patriotic rejection of the bonus, the group, at next year's convention, may come out for something like Reuther's bonus plan. Inasmuch as the AVC professes to appeal to the more intelligent veterans I am puzzled to find so transparent a device set before them as an honest renunciation of the bonus. Nevertheless the official summary flatly says the convention "voted against" a bonus.

The AVC frankly announces that it is trying to raise "one million dollars to get one million members." That would be one dollar a head and cheap, too. But there does seem to be a practical admission here that, given enough money and efficient propaganda and organization, a pressure group can round up the American veteran and herd him into any political corral.

A Friend Helps Us Get Pound of Lard

If the merchants of a certain Peachtree shopping center have left any capacity at all for being surprised at the behavior of their fellow man, they have undoubtedly been gasping a little lately at the phenomenal, almost spooky speed with which their scant stores of hard-to-get

Not that there's ever been any tendency to have bacon, laying around unwanted—or soap powder or salad oil or shortening either. But just recently the women of the neighborhood have seemed to possess a strange seventh sense which sends them hurtling into the super market at the precise second of an otherwise dull afternoon when the manager is trying to edge a case of lard inconspicuously into the oatmeal and flour department where only persevering and heavy shoppers would normally find it.

A man trying to ease a little bacon into the refrigerator may find his hand lopped off by the grabbing paws of his eager customers. And a poor dreamer who thinks he might have a pound of pork chops in the store for 20 or 30 minutes—just for the personal pleasure of contemplating their line and color—finds himself both frustrated and subject to dizzy spells.

THIS Nemesis of the neighborhood merchants is also our own personal Nemesis—a dark string bean of a child whom we capriciously identify as Jimmie Anne for the ridiculous reason that she told us that was her name.

We, who always get to the meat counter too late, came out of the market the other day, encumbered with groceries and children. As we reached the sidewalk we were suddenly—and forcefully—goosed in the ribs. Retrieving a carton of eggs and a couple of children, we heard a high giggle and caught a glimpse of our assailant over our shoulder.

"Oh, Jimmie Anne," we muttered in annoyance, "look what you've done!" Jimmie Anne giggled again and winked at the children broadly. "Lemme see," she said, "I believe I did tell you' mama my name was Jimmie Anne."

WE SNORTED and started rearranging our provisions so as to get a better hold on them but she was too quick for us. She started parceling out the packages to the children and talking briskly.

"I tell a heap of falsehoods sometimes," she said. "Bes' way is jes' don't pay no 'tensionun to me."

"Well, go away," we said irritably, "nobody wants to pay any attention to you!" "Hee, hee," she giggled in great amusement. "My real name is Gladys and I got news for you."

She came closer and her tone was confidential. "They got lard in dere, a pound to a customer, and the meat truck's at the back door 'cross the street."

"How do you know?" we said suspiciously. "I just came out of there and I didn't see any lard." "I maked it my business to know," murmured our friend of many aliases mysteriously. "I would get you into Mike Jacobs' battle of the century. Now, a repeater on the 1929 flopperino makes it easy for me. I just look up my file of the gags I wrote during the panic."

The best one was the man who asked the desk clerk for a room on the thirty-seventh floor. The clerk asked if he wanted it for sleeping or jumping. See how easy it is?

HAROLD ICKES

Congress Aids Oil Interests

The Senate and the House of Representatives seem to be putting on an Alphonse and Gaston act for the benefit of the oil interests.

The House could not pass fast enough the bill denying to the United States any right, title or interest in or to the oil deposits of the Continental Shelf that underlie the waters of the Pacific and are reputed to be fabulously rich. The Senate has not yet passed this bill despite the gracious curb service of certain of its members to the oil companies, but it has passed the euphoniously entitled S. 1236, "a bill to promote the development of oil and gas on the public domain and for other purposes," the "other purposes" being the further enrichment, at the public expense, of those who do the country in oil.

Under the present law, royalties on much of the oil produced on Federal lands are authorized on a sliding scale with a minimum of 12½ percent so that on such leases the average royalty is 13.6 percent. The bill passed by the Senate would make 12½ percent the flat rate, thus entailing a loss to the Government of perhaps several million dollars a year. The Senate even proposed to make this lower flat rate retroactive. So far as the people of the United States are concerned there is no sense to such an arrangement, particularly when oil operators pay private landowners and states at least 12½ percent in royalties, plus, in many cases, a bonus.

THE DEBATE over the extension of the OPA has also found the Senate willing to make concessions to the oil interests by removing the price controls on oil products. Probably the price of crude oil is too low, but this is no excuse for lowering royalties.

We are in such an oleaginous mood that we have put our own public-lands-oil on the bargain counter and the Senate was even willing further to despoil some of the Indians, although they are supposed to be our wards. We not only yell "Come and get it," so far as our precious oil resources are concerned, we hand back to the oil industry millions upon millions of dollars every year on some attenuated theory of "depletion reserves" which the oil industry requires to be written into every tax bill.

APPARENTLY the Senate has allowed itself to be kidded into the belief that some special inducement has to be offered to persuade oil men to prospect for oil. As if a rabbit had to be "induced" to eat lettuce in the garden! State and private interests that own oil lands do not have to hold out an "inducement" to a prospector. It is only credulous Uncle Sam who is expected to play Santa Claus to oil men in order to "induce" them to drill wells and so add to their fortunes.

Of influence on the Hill is such that there are instances when it can actually dictate, not only domestic, but foreign policy. It would seem that this present session of Congress will not be happy unless it enjoys the luxury of an oil scandal.

IT IS time to decide whether the oil industry is running this country exclusively for its own benefit or whether the people are to be paid a decent return for the oil that belongs to them. The royalty rate ought to continue to be on a sliding scale and it ought to be higher, rather than lower, than it is. Such a bill as S. 1236 is more than a pickpocket bill, it is a "Bully the Kid" bill. How certain larcenous amendments became attached to the bill while it was pending in the Senate is not known. As is usual, when there has been a raid on the Treasury, there is a conspiracy of silence. But, although the Senate may be able to cover up those who are responsible for this shameful attempt to enrich the oil interests at the people's expense, it is to be hoped that the House will expose this conspiracy against the public welfare and by a roll call let it be known who there may be among the Representatives who are willing to squander oil income that is due to the Federal Government.

We will desperately need oil in this country in the event of another war, and even if there should be no war those who will come after us will require it for purposes of peace. Oil in the ground is like money in the bank. It is well to keep some there on deposit. And it is high time to put an end to the spendthrift policy with respect to oil that has prevailed in this country.

HAROLD MARTIN

In Defense of Small Boys

In the morning's mail comes a card from a Mr. J. M. Boots, taking out after me and my son Knottlyhaid with a stick. Mr. Boots comes right to the point. He says: "If I had a boy with as little regard for other people's property as you claim yours has, I don't believe I would brag about it. Your kind of children is one of the reasons why landlords don't like to rent property to families with brats." (That strange looking word is Mr. Boots' own. I don't know whether he was trying to spell "families" or "females." It doesn't matter much, anyway. I had no trouble getting his point.)

What Mr. Boots has reference too, I suppose, was a piece I wrote the other day in which I talked about sending Knotty off to camp, on a train, by himself, and expressing some concern over what might happen to the train if Knotty were to start investigating its wonders.

In Defense So I guess I might as well say a few words in defense of Knottlyhaid, and in defending him, say a word or two for all little boys awake and wide-eyed in a world full of marvelous things.

But before I begin I want to make it clear that I am not the type of parent who believes in the doctrine that children should be allowed to express themselves without restraint. A man could not live around a house in which children are expressing themselves without restraint. They can express themselves up to a certain point and if they go beyond that I take a hairbrush. I am known to my children as a fast man with a hairbrush.

To that extent I am, perhaps, the type of father which Mr. Boots could approve. Though from the tone of his note I gather that a stern disciplinary such as he would not bother with wasting time by reason and soft words. If his offspring annoyed him, he would probably hit him with a club.

To get back to the main theme, though, I want to make the point that most damage which small boys cause is not in a spirit of pure willfulness, as parents sometimes too hastily assume. It is in a spirit of inquiry, of experiment. It is an effort to find out about things that are new to them, to find out what makes things work. There are some things that can be learned by asking questions—such as what makes the leaves green, and where does night come from, and rain, and why cats have fur and birds have feathers, and that $64 question that parents always know is coming sooner or later—where THEY themselves come from. These are intangible things, which they can only learn about by asking.

Questioning Spirit Stemming from this same curiosity, though, are other inquiries which best can be made with their hands. The child who keeps pulling the little chain to make a light turn on and off is fascinated by the miracle of light that comes and goes. Of course, he may break the chain, and get a smacking for it. But he wasn't primarily trying to break the chain. He was trying to find out about the light. Suppose he gets hold of a kitchen knife and whacks the coffee table with it. You have to smack him for that, too. But he was primarily interested in defacing the coffee table. Or was he just answering man's old atavistic urge to use a cutting edge?

When he was a little fellow, Knottlyhaid went out in the back lot one day and cut down a lot of young trees, and I gave him a good whalloping and a long talking-to. If I'd talked before I whalloped I'd have found out that he wasn't destroying trees for the pleasure he got out of it. He had some old bricks, and he needed some logs to make him a log cabin. His basic motive was to build, not destroy.

Take the matter of marking on the walls. The crayon scrawl on the wallpaper is a defacement, to me. To the little guy who did the pattern of his scrawling it is as pretty as the design the manufacturer put there. Smacking him isn't the answer. The answer is to give him some blank paper and explain that walls are not to draw on. Then let him draw. Or who is to come along to draw the wallpaper designs? Or to paint the pictures that we call art?

A-Seeking Yes, sir, Mr. Boots. It's mighty easy to talk about brats destroying things. It's mighty easy to punish them and say "no." It's harder to try and understand that most of the things they do that are wrong, stem from motives that are right—from the human race's unconquerable spirit of inquiry and experiment, the urge to build and create, to find out the "why" and "how" of things.

be no war those who will come after us will require it for purposes of peace. Oil in the ground is like money in the bank. It is well to keep some there on deposit. And it is high time to put an end to the spendthrift policy with respect to oil that has prevailed in this country.

ALL IN THE GAME JACK TROY

All-Star Crackers Here's one for the book. Your league-leading Atlanta Crackers, with nine players on the Southern League All-Star team, are last in road attendance.

The baseball experts, by their voting, have established the Crackers as one of the greatest teams in Southern League history. No other team has ever come close to dominating All-Star selections as have the Crackers.

Nine of 19 players! Three of six pitchers—Bill Ayers, Earl McGowan and Shelby Kinney. One of three catchers—Mike Ullisney. Two of five infielders—Wes Hamner, shortstop, and Ted Cieslak, utility. Three of five outfielders—Lloyd Gearhart, Babe Ellis and Charlie Glock, utility. They just couldn't leave Glock off the team.

The Crackers have played their best baseball away from home. And yet they have drawn the least customers in other parks. This is an admission on the part of the fans that they consider the Crackers too good. They'll probably set a new all-time attendance record for home games.

Next Wednesday night at Ponce de Leon Park the All-Star Crackers will play the Southern League All-Stars. The positions of Atlanta players on the All-Star aggregation will be filled by runner-ups.

It will be the eighth Southern League All-Star game. The first was played in Atlanta and a record for attendance was established as the Crackers won, 14 to 4. An overflow crowd of 15,045 responded.

All-American Challenge Harvey Hester, who recently asserted that the weakest club in the new All-American pro football conference would be a match for the best in the National League, probably will answer an observation by Caswell Adams, of the International News Service.

Hester, President of the Miami Seahawks, is never at a loss for words when the strength of the new pro conference is questioned.

"Football men don't believe that the caliber of play in the All-American Conference this coming Fall will be up to the standard of the National Football League," Adams writes. "They say that the new league's players, with few exceptions, will have to learn the pro football way. That, except for fellows like Norm Standlee and Lee Artoe and Perry Schwartz and Frank Sinkwich, they have no professional experience."

"And they say that the same goes for the coaches. Many of them are recent graduates from the college ranks, where the game of football is a lot different and where the problem of handling men is a lot different, too."

They tell you that Paul Brown, fresh from Ohio State, will have a tough job with Cleveland, and that Red Dawson, out of the assistant's job at Minnesota, will have a tough nut at Buffalo, and that Buck Saw, who didn't do too well at the University of California, will be badgered with the San Francisco outfit. And that Dick Hanley, who used to coach Northwestern, will have his mittens chock full with the Chicago Rockets.

One thing, though, Miami's coach, able Jack Meagher, was not included, although he, too, has had no professional experience.

We have an idea that Meagher will do well in any competition. Whipping Jack turned out a crack Iowa Preflight team while he served in the Navy.

But it's now Hester's time to carry the ball. He said the All-American's weakest would be a match for the National League's best. Adams can't see any All-American team in the National League's class.

Discovering Columbus Georgia has suddenly discovered Columbus as the hotbed of inter-scholastic and intercollegiate golf development.

Billy Key, a high school sophomore, won the Georgia Junior Golf championship with an amazing three-under-par 69, defeating Atlanta's Harold Spears, Jr., 32.

"He was playing on his home course," someone observed. "Sure. But he doesn't have any grooved approaches to the green, no alleys to the cup. And he still has to blast the ball off the tee. Home course, indeed. Key is 15 and a 69 in competition is terrific regardless of geographical location of the course."

Key now has earned the right to represent Georgia in the National Junior Tourney at Spokane, Wash., next month.

George Hamer, U. of Georgia sophomore from Columbus, has won a national college title and the Southern Amateur this season. Hamer has knocked over par on some of the better layouts. He's only 23 and generally regarded as an established player because of the soundness of his game.

Bill Ayers, Ted Cieslak Are Unanimous Choices

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 18—(AP)—Atlanta's scintillating Crackers, boomed as one of the league's great teams of all time, furnished the chief tie to the 1946 Southern Association All-Star team by placing nine men on the 19-member selection.

The league leaders landed with their three mound musketeers—Bill Ayers, Carl McGowan and Shelby Kinney—a catcher, two infielders and three outfielders to set some sort of record for player dominance.

The chosen Crackers, however, will not play with the star array in the revival of the All-Star game at Atlanta July 24.

They will perform as members of the pace-setting host team and their places on the All-Star lineup will be filled by runner-up vote-getters.

So Pres. Billy Evans' office announced two teams today—the original All-Star lineup and the "playing" All-Star club.

The original team, chosen by 18 sports editors in the league's eight cities, also includes three players from Nashville, two each from Memphis and Chattanooga and one each from Birmingham, New Orleans and Little Rock. Mobile didn't place.

There were three unanimous choices—Bill Ayers, Atlanta's 16-game winner; Cracker Infielder Ted Cieslak, banging the ball at better than .350, and Hillis Layne, Chattanooga's third baseman, who is a leading contender for bat honors.

Cieslak was a repeater from last year, along with Pitcher Luis Aloma, of Chattanooga; Catcher Harry Chosen, of Memphis, and Infielder Bob Mavis, of Little Rock. Chattanooga Shortstop Angel Fleitas, an All-Star in 1945, made the "playing" team.

Heinz Becker, Nashville first baseman, topped all at his position but since the balloting has graduated to the majors.

Here's the All-Star team with votes in parentheses:

Pitchers—Bill Ayers of Atlanta (18), Earl McGowan of Atlanta (16), Shelby Kinney of Atlanta (16), Leo Twardy of Nashville (16), Luis Aloma of Chattanooga (14), Lester Willis of Memphis (13).

Catchers—Harry Chosen of Memphis (12), Ted Pawelek of Nashville (11), Mike Ullisney of Atlanta (10).

Infielders—Heinz Becker of Nashville (12), first base; Bob Mavis of Little Rock (12), second base; Wesley Hamner of Atlanta (15), shortstop; Hillis Layne of Chattanooga (18), third base; Ted Cieslak of Atlanta (18), utility.

Outfielders—Tom Neill of Birmingham (17), Lloyd Gearhart of Atlanta (16), Paul Bruno of New Orleans (18), Ralph Ellis of At-

MAJORS TO GIVE PLAYERS NEW DEAL

CHICAGO, July 18—(UP)—A joint committee of the National and American Leagues in a precedent-shattering move Thursday voted to give major league baseball players a voice in the drafting of a new uniform player's contract.

Breaking the super-secrecy which surrounded their recent meeting during the major league All-Star game at Boston and an early session here, the joint committee of the leagues revealed the first organized move to combat attempts to unionize baseball. The action also was designed to dispel dissatisfaction among players brought on by bids from the Mexican League operated by the fabulous Pasquel brothers.

ROTATE ALL-STAR, ZIPP ASKS EVANS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 18—(AP)—Zipp Newman, Sports Editor of the Birmingham News, wired Pres. Billy Evans, of the Southern Association, Thursday proposing that the League's All-Star game be rotated among the cities.

Zipp, weary of having to leave home every year to see the ball game, suggested that Birmingham, New Orleans, Chattanooga and Mobile fans also would like a look at the All-Stars.

"How are we ever going to get to be hosts" without rotation," Newman asked.

The Barons, currently in seventh place, won their last Southern Association pennant in 1931.

Morton Nine Journeys

Mortons Market, one of Atlanta's strongest amateur nines, will take off from 1251 State St. Sunday morning for Birmingham, where they meet Stockham in a return double-header, starting at 2 o'clock. Hayes and Broyles are slated for mound duty.

Wavcross Wins Title In Southern Division

WAYCROSS, July 18—With only one day's rest under his belt, youthful Herbert Bradshaw, Jr., came back and hurled the Waycross Junior Bears to a 3-2 victory over Dawson in the final of the American Legion Southern Division tourney at Thomasville Thursday.

The Bears will represent the Southern Division in the State-wide Legion tourney which will be played the latter part of this month.

NEWARK, Del., July 18—(AP)—Marvin Zeitz, 23, star tackle on the undefeated 1940 University of Delaware football team and a veteran of the Pacific Theater, collapsed Thursday at the entrance of the administration building of the University where he had re-entered classes and was dead upon arrival at the infirmary.

Louise Suggs, Hogan Capture Pro-Lady Title

CHICAGO, July 18—(AP)—Towering Johnny Bulla, of Chicago, fashioning a five-under-par 137, Thursday was top money-winner in a complicated 36-hole warm-up for the $10,000 Victory National Open Golf Tournament which starts Friday at Medinah Country Club.

Bulla, who Thursday added a one-under-par 70 to his 67 of Wednesday, failed to figure in any of the three preliminary championship rounds for pro-amateur, pro-lady and pro-senior titles—but as low professional, Johnny walked off with the top prize, a $1,000 war bond.

The pro-amateur title went to an unheralded team, Jim Ferrier, of San Francisco, who finished with a sizzling 67, equalling the course competitive record, and Simon-pure Mike Stefancik, of Hobart, Ind., with a 36-hole aggregate of 291.

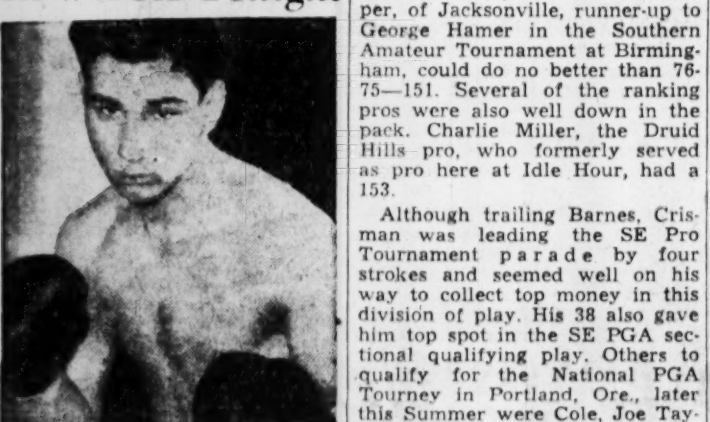

The nation's leading money-winner, Ben Hogan, and Georgian Louise Suggs, winner of the recent Women's Western Open, teamed to take the pro-lady crown with 301. The pro-senior title went to

Tommy, one of Atlanta's most consistent golfers, breezed around the par 70 Idle Hour course Thursday morning in 69 strokes and then came back after lunch to better his first round tally by one stroke for a 36-hole total of 137. This was one stroke better than Pro Oley Crisman, the defending Southeastern champ from Miami. Winne Cole, another player-for-pay entry from Vicksburg,

Garden Welter 'Go' on WAGA Tonight

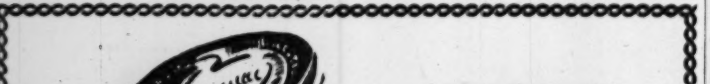

Two fast-moving welterweights, Tony Pellone (above) of New York, and Charlie "Chuck" Taylor, Cosport, Pennsylvania, battle in the main ten at Manhattan's Madison Square Garden tonight.

Pellone, a long-range boxer, uses a wide variety of punches. He mixes a smashing right uppercut with a potent left hook. It is the latter, however, that has gained him most of his wins. Among others, his victims include Billy Graham, Lulu Costantino and Patsy Giovannelli.

Taylor is a nifty package and displays consummate boxing skill, in addition to having a dangerous wallop. He got his first acclaim around Gotham when he defeated Freddie Archer several weeks ago. He looked so good that a lot of the mob climbed on his bandwagon.

Bums Lose; Crackers Win In 10th Over Mobile Bears, 4-3

By F. M. WILLIAMS
MOBILE, Ala., July 18—Ted Cieslak beat out an infield single in the tenth inning here tonight to send Lloyd Gearhart scampering home for the third time and the winning run as the Crackers eked out a 4-to-3 victory over Mobile.

Earlier in the eighth inning, trailing by two runs, presented the Bears by fielding miscues, the Crackers staged a rally to tie the score. Charlie Glock's long fly drove in Gearhart with the tying marker.

The Bears over the right field wall off one of Big Bill Ayers' fast balls. The Crackers contrived to present the Bears with solitary runs in the fifth and sixth, the latter being of a strictly bush-league variety when Shuba's towering fly dropped unmolested in the infield, and he was sacrificed to second and raced home on a bad throw by Hammer.

Only bright spot was Outfielder Bill Goodman's continuing batting streak. Goodman, who has hit in the last nine games, singled in the sixth inning to run his record to 18 in the last 23 times at bat.

Shuba, after taking two called strikes, fanned on a high fastball. He then took a fast ball over the right field fence, but it was a fly ball, and he was out. Goodman's long fly drove in Gearhart with the tying marker.

The Crackers figured out a run in the sixth and put the Bears on front, 1-0. Ayers in pursuit, Ted Cieslak scored in the fifth, with one away, Cieslak booted Ayers in pursuit. That brought the total of Ayers' errors to four.

C-54s May Fly For Grounded Planes

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP)—The Government acted Thursday to provide Army C-54 transport airplanes for United States and foreign transoceanic air lines whose service has been disrupted by the grounding of Lockheed Constellation.

The State Department reported that the top Air Coordinating Committee, representing the CAA, CAB and Post Office, War, Navy and State Departments and Budget Bureau, had recommended that the Army make the planes available. Any arrangements for use of the ships still are to be worked out.

The Constellations were grounded by the CAA last week after one of the planes crashed at Reading, Pa., killing five crewmen.

Five Mat Battles Slated Tonight At Auditorium

Five matches, two scheduled for one fall to a finish, and three carrying a 20-minute time limit, will feature tonight's mat program at the City Auditorium.

Al Massey, the Atlanta favorite, and Daffy Don Lee, the huge Texan, will battle it out in the finale.

Promoter Paul Jones says he expects this bout to be one of the best to be staged at the Auditorium in many months.

Daffy Don tips the beams at 293 pounds, and should he elect to use his rough and tumble tactics, may upset the favored star from Miami.

Jimmy Coffield faces Nick Carter, the handsome Alabama athlete, in the other half of the double main event.

The opener, slated for 8:30 p. m., brings together Charlie Harbin and Tiger Joe Marsh.

Johnny Long clashes with hefty Jack Hader and newcomer Billy Hickman engages Gene Blakely in the other two 20-minute limit fights.

The latter two matches involve junior heavyweight competitors.

Lake Drained To Find Lost Glass Eye

Constitution State News Service.
GAINESVILLE, July 18.—Edison Maness, of Baldwin, who lost an eye fighting the Japs in the Philippines, was swimming in Nantuxton Lake in the Chattahoochee National Forest recently when he lost his expensive artificial eye.

He called on the Forest Supervisor for assistance. Action was taken by the Forest Service to lower the level of the lake by opening the gate in the dam.

Seven hours after opening the gate, the water level was lowered about a foot.

Gus Alexander, of Mt. Airy, a Forest Service employe, opened the gate and assisted Maness in hunting for the glass eye.

While the men were searching near where Maness thought he had suffered his loss, Alexander found the glass eye.

Pravda Terms Atcheson Middle Age's Figure
MOSCOW, July 18.—(AP)—Pravda has described George Atcheson, Jr., chairman of the Allied Council for Japan, as a "living anachronism," and said he was a "middle-age political figure among modern diplomats."

In an article by David Zaslavsky, Pravda quoted Atcheson as writing that "we are not obligated to instill Communism in Japan. On the other hand, we are obligated to inculcate Democratic principles."

LACK OF WATER CRAMPS CITY

Constitution State News Service.
DUBLIN, July 18.—Dublin was a dry town yesterday for several hours at least, and, like the Ancient Mariner, "not a drop to drink," nor even to cook or wash with. A broken agitator in the filter system of the city water plant was the cause of the aridity, according to Mayor C. Flannery Pope, necessitating drainage of water from the filter system before repairs could be made.

Housewives found themselves with partly cooked dinners on the stove; beauty shops had to hold up shampoos and restaurants perforce resorted to bottled drinks to take the place of iced tea and water.

Repairs were made and city officials breathed prayers of gratitude that no fires broke out during the temporary suspension of the water system.

Laurens Court Term Is To Open Monday

Constitution State News Service.
DUBLIN, July 18.—The July term of the Laurens Superior Court opens here Monday with Judge R. Earl Camp presiding. W. Larsen, Jr., is solicitor general. Clerk J. B. Beddingfield announced today that the Judge has drawn the Grand and Traverse Jurors.

Carter, Jr., Fred Driver, Otis B. Rawls, J. Ralph Gay, Paul Hudson, J. P. Daniel, C. M. Rowe, J. F. Graham, C. I. Hilburn, Charles F. Ludwig, L. K. Smith, T. C. Bobbitt, P. M. Watson, R. E. Arnan, J. Fred Bell, H. Y. Grant, T. W. Butler, D. R. Harden, J. D. McClelland, G. W. Knight, J. P. Ellington, V. L. Register, R. L. Hall, N. S. Carswell, and Emory Whittle.

Truman Soon To Name Economic Advisors
WASHINGTON, July 18.—(AP)—President Truman told his news conference Thursday he would name a three-member economic advisory council just as quickly as he can.

He said he had hoped to tell newsmen Thursday the names of the men who will administer the so-called "full-employment" law, but was not able to do so.

The same situation exists, he added, with reference to the Governorship of Puerto Rico. He must name a successor to former Gov. Rexford G. Tugwell, now teaching at the University of Chicago.

3 Injured In Collision On Highway Near Bremen
An Atlantan and two North Carolinians suffered broken limbs in an accident near Bremen yesterday.

A man identified by the State Highway Patrol as H. Cobb, of Atlanta, received a broken knee, and Mr. and Mrs. Cornelia English, of North Carolina, suffered broken legs when their automobile collided head-on with Cobb's car half a mile west of Bremen, police said.

The trio was taken to a Bremen hospital for treatment.

Brazil Offers Haven
RIO DE JANEIRO, July 18.—(AP)—Joao Alberto Lins Barros, Brazilian Immigration Director, declared Thursday at a news conference that 100,000 displaced persons in Europe might find a haven in Brazil if the United Nations would furnish transportation.

Man Arrested in Slaying Of 2 Irwin Prison Guards

ALMA, July 18—An alert sheriff who saw a "suspicious" Negro near here Thursday and decided to question him, is credited with the capture of the man who has confessed he killed two guards and then escaped from a work camp Wednesday, Sgt. C. C. Underwood, of the Georgia State Patrol, announced.

MANKIN, DAVIS

Her committee, as well as the convention she designates, will meet at 11 a. m. tomorrow in the Senate Chamber of the State Capitol to designate her as the Democratic nominee for this district.

On the other hand, the Democratic Executive Committee from the three counties in the district indicated yesterday that they recognize the so-called "Ramspeck Committee" as the only legal committee for the Fifth Congressional District and will accordingly make their official returns to that committee. This is the committee of which Judge Shepard Bryan is chairman. Ezra Phillips, of East Point, is chairman of Mrs. Mankin's committee.

DISTRICT VOTE

With all precincts reported except one from Rockdale County, the tabulated figures for the three counties in the district are: Mankin, 53,611; Davis, 42,462; Lowe, 7,443. Mrs. Mankin thus has a majority of 3,706 in the district.

The complication here is that under the recent ruling of Judge Bryan's committee, Mrs. Mankin, who carried only Fulton County, has only six unit votes. But Judge Davis carried DeKalb County, with six unit votes, and Rockdale County, with two unit votes. Hence, he has eight unit votes in the convention against six for Mrs. Mankin. If this ruling stands, Judge Davis will be the victor.

Mrs. Mankin said she does not recognize the unit rule and will insist that on the majority vote of the district she is the victor. She contends the committee had no jurisdiction, and could not legally change from popular to unit vote.

GEORGE'S STATEMENT

Judge Homer George, Chairman of the DeKalb County Democratic Executive Committee, said he will certify the official vote of that County to the only congressional District Committee that he recognizes—Judge Bryan's Committee.

Mrs. Z. V. Peterson, secretary of this committee, said it will meet at 11 a. m., July 27, in the Senate Chamber of the State Capitol and will undoubtedly designate Judge Davis as the Democratic nominee for Congress from this district.

In that case, Mrs. Mankin will take an appeal to the Democratic State Executive Committee. She refused to indicate her next move should that committee reject her appeal.

MRS. MANKIN'S PROTEST

Late in the day Mrs. Mankin issued a statement protesting the management of the election in several polling places in DeKalb County. She gave three reasons for her protest: (1) That the boxes were not locked; (2) that the counting of the ballots began before the polls closed; and (3) that the public was not permitted to view the counting of the ballots.

Mrs. Mankin at the same time praised the conduct of the workers and the counters at the various polling places. Last night Judge Davis issued a statement of thanks to the voters of the district. He said: "I thank the voters of the Fifth District for naming me yesterday the candidate of the Democratic Party for Congress. I appreciate the support of the many thousands who worked long and faithfully for clean politics and good government. My nomination is a victory for those who believe in this kind of campaign."

CANADIANS DENY U. S. REQUEST

OTTAWA, July 18—(AP)—Canada is reported to have rejected as "too expensive" a United States request that Canada establish a meteorological station on Melville Island on the western side of the Arctic archipelago.

Canada also has declined to give the United States permission to build such a station because of sovereignty rights involved.

Melville is one of the Parry Islands on the seventy-fifth meridian north of the Viscount Melville Straits.

It was reported the Americans on the United States-Canadian Joint Defense Board took the view that a weather station on Melville Island would be a great help in plans to develop Arctic defenses. Canadian officials, however, said erection of a weather station in such an isolated locality would be extremely difficult.

GREATEST TOTAL IN HISTORY

Unit System He Favored Nulls Jimmie's Top Vote

By JOHN COURIC

For the first time in its history, Georgia's county unit system has resulted in the election of a gubernatorial candidate who failed to poll a majority of popular votes.

Although the county unit system always has permitted rural voters to overshadow their city cousins on primary day, the unit method never before has enabled a gubernatorial candidate to assume office without being the choice of a majority of individual voters.

The late Homer C. Parker, of Statesboro, political figure in Georgia for a quarter of a century, once fell victim to the system in one of his races for Comptroller General, but the voters never have been divided in such a manner as to throw the majority of popular votes to the losing candidate for Governor.

However, political observers do not foresee any complaint from losing candidate, James V. Carmichael, in his race against Eugene Talmadge. For Carmichael, in campaign stump speeches, frequently pledged himself to the county unit system. Declaring the county unit system a protection against big city machine domination, Carmichael often asserted his fundamental belief in the advisability of the county unit method of tallying.

LAW LOSS OF CITIES

Talmadge also evidently counted on the county unit system during the recent primary, declaring on the eve of election day: "I am glad that my opponent is in favor of the county unit system."

Political observers at that time interpreted the remark to mean that Talmadge anticipated losing the big cities and thus probably losing the race as far as popular votes are concerned.

Carmichael also set a record for the number of votes received by any contested candidate for Governor. He polled 240,000 votes with many ballots still uncounted to beat the record set by E. D. Rivers in 1936 when he was opposed by Hugh Howell. Rivers received 233,000 popular votes.

Although the county unit system for state primaries was not placed on statute books until 1917, local custom often caused its use prior to that date. Dr. Cullen B. Gosnell and Lyle Chubb, Georgia historians, have reported.

Dr. Gosnell, Emory University professor and author, said that the unit method was initiated as a rule of the Democratic Party in 1876, but Chubb, Research Secretary of the Citizens' Fact-Finding Movement in Georgia, asserts that, to his knowledge, time of the beginning of the county unit system is not definitely recorded.

ONCE OVERCOME

However, before the County unit system became a law, one Governor, Hoke Smith, was able to abolish the method through hand-picked representatives in the Democratic party. Chubb declared in an interview. This was effected Sept. 4, 1906, but the system was again placed in the rules of the Democratic party after Gov. Joe Brown won the nomination in 1908.

Since placing of the unit system on the statute books in 1917, the law never has been amended nor contested as to its constitutionality in the courts of the State, Chubb added.

Proponents advocate the unit system on the grounds that rural voters should be accorded many times the voice in government as city residents because they are less likely to become entangled in organized city machines which might spread their tentacles over State politics.

CITE SOUTH CAROLINA

Carmichael supporters used South Carolina as an example, saying that candidates for State offices do all their campaigning in the more thickly populated areas around cities.

Opponents of the plan declare that the results do not indicate the true voting picture and permit minority control, adding that the election should be decided by expressions of individual voters.

Georgia counties are divided into two, four and six-unit vote counties. A resident of Echols County, where the registration list totals less than a thousand, has 45 times the voice in government as does a voter in populous Fulton County, students of the County unit system have pointed out. Echols has two unit votes. Fulton has six.

Dr. J. C. Bonner, head of the History Department at Georgia State College for Women, has declared that the system appears to be similar to the electoral vote method in national elections, but actually is not. Dr. Bonner, a native of Carroll County, declared the difference lay in the assigning of unit votes. Electoral votes are apportioned according to population, while County unit votes, he asserted, are assigned arbitrarily.

Towns Votes Will Be Counted

HIAWASSEE, July 18—(P)—The Towns County Democratic Committee rejected Thursday a "no election" proposal by Chairman Walter E. Warren and voted to forward the results of the county's balloting Wednesday to the State Committee.

Announcement of the decision was made by Committee Member W. K. Dean.

The "no election" proposal was made by Warren to State Democratic Committee Chairman J. Lon Duckworth following a fight which broke out at one of eight polling places between Democrats and Republicans.

In Atlanta, Duckworth said that if the votes were forwarded, they would be counted unless some candidate chose to contest the procedure.

Second Term Feuders Hold Assembly Jobs

Two incumbents who probably will be leading figures in opposing camps in the next Legislature have been re-elected.

James Dykes, of Bleckley County, who reportedly is slated to be the floor leader in the Talmadge administration, defeated his opponent, Bob Cooper, by 400 votes.

Walter Harrison, Mayor of Millen and one of the leaders of the unsuccessful fight to permit Gov. Arnall to seek re-election, nosed out his legislative opponent, Clifford Parker. Harrison campaigned for Jimmie Carmichael.

A prominent member of the past Legislature, Rep. Charles Gowen, of Brunswick, was returned as Representative of Glynn County by a vote of nearly three to one. His opponent was Max Rozier. Gowen voted against the Arnall second term amendment and Rozier featured this in his campaign.

Carmichael Gets Clear Majority In DeKalb Vote

DeKalb County consolidated primary returns gave Carmichael 17,625, Talmadge 7,352, Rivers 1,123 and O'Kelley 589.

In the Lieutenant Governor's race, DeKalb gave Dennis 2,038, Grayson 260, Griffin 4,890, Gross 5,087, Huff 5,174 and Thompson 6,310.

Other results follow: Secretary of State: Burson 8,094, Fortson 17,704, State Treasurer, Hamilton 19,560, Tucker 6,043, Comptroller General, Cravey 15,739, Dykes 9,396, Court of Appeals, Butler 5,496, Church 3,454, McIntyre 15,333.

The following were renominated without opposition: County Commissioner, Scott Candler; City Court Judge, Frank Guess; City Solicitor, D. P. Phillips; and Reps. H. O. Hubert, Jr., Pierre Howard and W. H. McWhorter.

Citizens of Walton Outlaw Wine, Beer

MONROE, July 18—Voters of Walton County voted to discontinue the sale of wine and beer in their county.

The vote for beer and wine was 1,907; against, 2,817.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better.

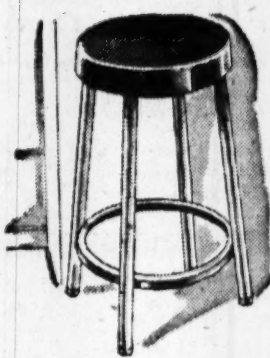

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SALLY FORTH Says:

Macon Belles Study Music At Fontainebleau, France

A duo of popular Macon belles, Edith Turpin and Mary Grace, both of whom are well known here, are experiencing the most exciting summer of their young lives as students of music at the American School of Fine Arts at Fontainebleau, France. They sailed from New York recently on the Ile de France, after having applied for permission to study abroad through their music teacher at Vassar, where both recently graduated. They are pupils at Fontainebleau of the celebrated Casadesus, with whom several Atlantans have studied in New York.

Edith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Turpin, Jr., who often visit Atlanta as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Smith, and Mary is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grace, all prominent Maconites. The two girls roomed together at Vassar, and are remarkably congenial, for both are as smart as whips and speak French like natives. And don't think they are not having fun, along with their study and long hours of practice. They arrived at Fontainebleau late on Thursday evening, it seems, and early on Saturday they departed for a weekend in Paris, their reason being that some friends they had met on the boat would be there no longer.

Yellow passengers on the Ile de France with Edith and Mary included Atlanta's Mrs. Joe A. Brown, who was bound for her native France; Fenwick Jones, of Savannah, who was en route to Switzerland to complete work on his Ph.D. degree, and the Princeton roommate of Allen Colley, of Grantville. Edith writes that they had sumptuous food on the boat, but less variety at school, though everything is deliciously flavored. Both she and Mary have found the French people thoroughly charming, if rather inefficient, and more than anxious to help them with any problems confronting them in a strange land.

Edith, who is known as "Ditta" to her intimates, made an enviable record at Vassar. She was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in her junior year, was head of Cushing Hall, associate editor of the Vassar Chronicle, Chairman of the Press Board, and music critic for the Poughkeepsie New Yorker. When she and Mary complete their eight-week course, they plan to travel on the continent, with at least a month in Belgium and England. They left the States armed with numerous letters of introduction to prominent figures in the music and financial world, who will doubtless contribute much to the pleasure of their visit.

Not that they need help in making the most of their trip abroad, for two such charming and intelligent girls could not fail to attract friends wherever they go. Besides, youth must be served, whether in France or Timbuctoo!

PROMINENT ATLANTANS' NEW ACQUISITION

The attractive rustic mountain cottage at Lakemont where many congenial groups have gathered in past years to enjoy the hospitality of its gracious owner, Mrs. Charles Conklin, has now passed into the hands of Catherine and "Son" Richardson and Virginia and Harris Robinson, who are joint owners of the property. The house is a cottage in name only, for it is one of the most spacious on Lake Rabun. It is constructed of brown cross-grained timbers, trimmed in green, with a tremendous screened porch running the length of the front. There is a large living room, dining room, kitchen, and four bedrooms. With a bit of redecorating here and there, the Lakemont rendezvous will be ready for many gala house parties at which the new owners will entertain from time to time in the future.

But, in the meantime, the Richardsons and the Robinsons are so enamored with their new place that they plan to spend practically every weekend there.

ELECTION ECHOES

Denver, Col., is a long way from Atlanta, but the presence there of Harriet and Henry Grady did not lessen their interest in Georgia's gubernatorial election, for they were keeping in close touch with the news as election day drew near.

It was their close friend, Georgia Rice (Mrs. Dudley) Golding, who "flushed" them the count as it stood at midnight on election night. It seems that just before the Gradys left they confided to some of their friends, Georgia included, that the only thing marring their trip was not being here for the election. Georgia, who is noted for her thoughtfulness, made a mental note of this, and so at midnight she wired them the latest news on the Governor's race which gave Eugene Talmadge the lead. As a follow-up, Georgia dispatched air mail newspaper clippings on the final results.

Clifton-Leonard Wedding Set for Church Rites August 1

Miss Emma Jean Clifton and George Burr Leonard, Jr., have chosen Thursday, Aug. 1, as the date for their marriage, the nuptials to be solemnized at an evening ceremony at 8 o'clock at the Druid Hills Methodist Church, with the pastor, Dr. Fred Chennault, officiating. Following the ceremony, the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Berry Clifton, will be hosts at a reception at the Biltmore Hotel.

Miss Clifton's father will give her in marriage, and Robert W. Gaston will be best man. The ushers will include Alex Reeves, Dr. Earl Floyd, H. Z. Hopkins, James H. Taylor, Curtis H. Mrs. Gelders Becomes Bride Of C. E. Furlow at Church

Mrs. Jule Meredith Gelders became the bride of Calvin Edward Furlow, of this city, formerly of Washington, D. C., at a quiet ceremony which took place yesterday at the Peachtree Christian Church. Rev. Lamar Hocker officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Duke C. Meredith, wore a smart creation of sea-green and white. Her flowers were white orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Furlow left for Blowing Rock, N. C., and Gatlinburg, Tenn. Upon their return they will reside at 278 Twelfth St.

Mrs. Furlow is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Meredith, of Jackson. She is a talented artist and leader in art circles, having studied at the High Museum of Art, the Cincinnati Art Academy, and at well-known New York art schools. At the time of her marriage she was an instructor of art in the Atlanta Public School System.

Mr. Furlow, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Furlow, of Jacksonville, graduated from Western Reserve College, in Cleveland. He has a daughter, Mrs. Robert W. Brown, and a son, Edward Furlow, who is a student at Purdue University. He is an engineer with the Federal Public Housing Authority.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Holder and Robert M. Holder, Jr., are at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

Meat Loaves Suitable for Summer Menus

By SALLY SAVER.

Meat loaves are especially suitable for Summer menus because they are very adaptable. The hot freshly baked loaf is excellent for dinner, flanked by asparagus spears, baked tomatoes or green beans. For porch suppers, picnics, luncheons or sandwiches the cold loaf is equally delicious. The trouble is, of course, that ground beef and pork, basis of the usual meat loaf, cannot always be found these days. But if and when you can lay your hand upon a pound of ground beef it can be stretched into many more servings by the addition of rolled oats, bread crumbs and potatoes. But in case you lack the luck to find ground beef, a recipe for a jellied meat loaf, using liverwurst or other cold sausage, is included with these meat-stretching loaves.

- 1 pound ground beef
 - 1 1/2 pound ground salt pork
 - 1 cup rolled oats, uncooked
 - 1 1/2 cups chopped onion
 - 2 teaspoons salt
 - 1 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - 1 1/2 teaspoon mustard
 - 1 egg
 - 1 cup water or milk
- Combine all ingredients, mixing thoroughly. Pack firmly into a greased loaf pan and bake in a moderate oven, 150 degrees for 1 hour. One cup cooked tomatoes may be used instead of the water, and call up or other seasonings may be added as liked.

LAYER LOAF

- Meat Layer:
 - 1 pound ground beef
 - 1 1/2 pound ground salt pork
 - 1 1/2 cups chopped onion
 - 1 egg, beaten
 - 1 1/2 cup catsup
 - 1 1/2 teaspoon worcestershire sauce
- Potato Layer:
- 2 cups cooked mashed potatoes well seasoned with salt and pepper
 - 2 tablespoons minced onions, added, if liked

Combine ingredients for meat layer. Press half of meat layer into a greased baking dish. Cover with the mashed potatoes. Make another layer with the remaining meat. Spoon 2 tablespoons catsup over top of loaf and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 45 minutes.

JELLIED LOAF

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1 1/2 cup cold water
- 1 1/2 cups tomato juice
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 cups liverwurst
- 1 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 1/2 cup finely chopped celery
- 1 1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper

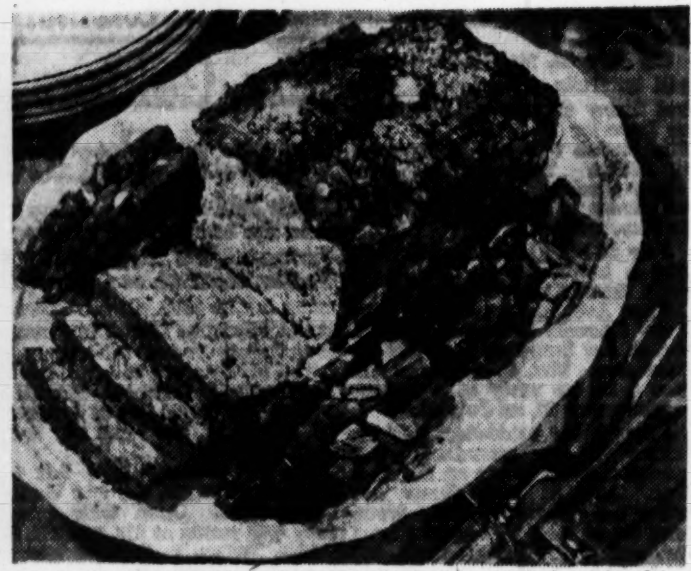

1. Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve over hot water. Add gelatin to tomato juice. Stir in sugar, salt, pepper and lemon juice. Cook until mixture begins to thicken. Meanwhile remove skin from liverwurst and mash. Blend in mayonnaise, mustard, celery, green pepper and onion. Fold meat into tomato jelly, blending thoroughly. Turn into a glass loaf pan or other mold that has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm. When firm, unmold on platter and garnish with crisp salad greens. Mustard or horseradish is an excellent accompaniment to this loaf.

ELIZABETH WOODWARD SAYS:

Public Places, Outdoors For Everybody's Benefit

Your animal spirits are a sign of good health, vitality and strength. But some of you lads demonstrate your state of well-being in the wrong places. Sure, the world and things and people are funny. But you needn't bellow your glee down somebody's neck at the movies. Sure, some people are slow on their feet. But you needn't jostle and shove to get them out of your way. Sure, there are only so many seats on a bus . . . and more than enough people to fill them. But you needn't climb over everybody else's back to snaggle roosting places for your gang. Then pile in six to a seat, wriggling, squirming and shrieking out loud.

Being with a congregation of kindred animal spirits makes you blind to the fact that your little group is surrounded by people not so kindred. You're immersed in your own private jokes . . . but you laugh so raucously at them, slapping each other on the back . . . that they become a public nuisance. You're so concerned with your own progress that you hold up traffic. You stride eight abreast down the busiest streets. You ramble snake fashion, but at top speed, through crowds. Your oncoming resembles a Sherman tank bearing down on poor civilians whose only hope is to get out of the road.

You say you're just as much right to space on the byways as the next one. But in the interest of sanity, good humor and decent consideration for other people, you're a right to only the space one overgrown lad can occupy. That means standing up straight, too . . . and not branched out at angles.

There are those that say wars happen because we have too many people in the world. There just isn't room for them all to breathe. If that's the case, then the people who are already here ought to make themselves mighty small indeed. If there's just so much room to divide among too many people . . . it's piteous selfishness to use up more than you deserve.

Public places and all outdoors are for the benefit of all people. It amounts to downright robbery, if you disturb the public tranquility, upset the public mood, tread on the public toe or jostle the public elbow. You're pre-empting property and privilege that do not belong to you.

If you walk through your days with your elbows close to your sides, your voice well sunk in your throat, your feet collected, and your own business on your mind . . . you'll offend nobody. Don't try to save your conscience with a crack about "Aw, I don't know those people, and they don't know me. . . I'll never see them again!" Maybe you will. And maybe you'll want them to vote for you, too!

DOROTHY MANNERS REPORTS:

Story of Irish Singer Goes to Dennis Morgan

HOLLYWOOD, July 18.—(INS)—Dennis Morgan fans, worried that his ruptured eardrum might interfere with his singing, may relax. Next on tap for Dennis at Warners is "My Wild Irish Rose," the Chauncey Olcott story based on the life and career of the late Irish singer. Morgan "gives" with 10 of Olcott's best-loved songs, including the title number. Alexis Smith plays the femme lead in the picture which David Butler directs.

Just before taking off for New York to join Bill LeBaron in launching "Carnegie Hall," Boris Morros signed Leopold Stokowski to lead the New York Philharmonic in the movie. William Prince has the romantic lead opposite Martha O'Driscoll. Entire filming takes place in New York.

The "Canyon Passage" premiere at Portland, Ore., hosted by Walter Wanger and stage manager by Elsa Maxwell, was a yowling success. Ten bands kept things lively and 250 horsemen participated in the torchlight parade. Some where along the line the Governor of Oregon presented Wanger with a scroll and a cake.

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: It's a boy, born Sunday, for the Harry Ritzes; Tom Waring, Fred's brother, says "Henry, V." is now known around New York as "Hank Sank" (Cine); localities will have a chance to see Chester Morris, Edgar Bergen, Peter Godfrey and other star magicians perform their stuff plus the nights of July 26 and 27 at "The Stars of Magic" show at the Wilshire Ebell Theater. In addition, Blackstone, the note trickster will also be on hand to pull rabbits out of hats; give Harpo Marx, who wasn't even invited, a great big hand for bringing his harp over to the John Considine the other afternoon when he heard they were entertaining 18 blind vets. Harpo played for hours for a completely enchanted audience and when it was time to leave the men insisted in helping him carry the harp to his home a couple of blocks away; Marie McDonald with Helmut Dantine attracting attention at the Beverly Tropics; a wire from Mrs. J. D. Cahn, President of Associated Women's Clubs of New York, states: "Associated Women's Clubs declares boycott against George Sanders and 'Bel Ami' following receipt of report from Los Angeles chapter headed by a committee consisting of Mrs. Walter P. Story and Mrs. Mary De Solares. . . . Insist our members boycott the film and Mr. Sanders. . . . This savage criticism of women must be stopped. . . . This intent has been forwarded to producer's offices. . . . California's Gov. Earl Warren has been presented with a solid gold membership card in the swank California Cabana Club which opens soon with a solid gold membership list. This is far and away the luxury play spot of California's beach history; Ida Lupino and Don McGuire a new combo at the Don Cambo. That's all today.

BACKSTAGE

By Paul Jones

"Diary of a Chambermaid," now at Loew's, has more facets than a four-carat diamond. It is hard to sum it up in any way except to say that it is engrossing, superbly presented by a list of top-flight stars, headed by Paulette Goddard and Burgess Meredith, who are man and wife in real life.

The reason "Chambermaid" is so hard to define in one summation is that it employs so many different emotional themes—drama, subtle humor, horror and colorful romance. It is a smart piece of entertainment but its subtlety places it, to begin with, in the category of adult entertainment.

The play changes character so many times during its span that I found myself scratching my head several times and asking myself "just what kind of a picture is this?" One minute the racy script has your eyes watering from laughter, then the next you're brought to the edge of your seat when a murderer stabs an ice-pick into the back of an innocent man. Then the character of the play changes to a gay theme with romance as the background.

The characterizations in the picture are very good. Miss Goddard contributes a gay and charming portrait of Celestine, the chambermaid, and Francis Lederer and Hurd Hatfield give admirable support as her lovers. Reginald Owen, hardly recognizable behind that horrible crop of whiskers, does his minor part well, also.

The story is set in motion when Miss Goddard arrives at a French chateau in the 1880 period to take up her duties as the new chambermaid. Immediately she is projected into a round of romances with Lederer, the ruthless over-seer and valet of the huge estate, and Hurd Hatfield, the frustrated and disillusioned son of the chateau master. The romantic inter-ludes are interspersed with a series of sometimes gay, sometimes weird happenings and profile glimpses of the funny-faced characters who make up the full story.

"Chambermaid" gets three bells.

Lubitsch 'Touch'

"Cluny Brown," Ernst Lubitsch's frothy comedy about a Cockney girl who has an irresistible desire to be a lady plumber, is currently showing at the Fox Theater. Lubitsch fans find it enjoyable. Those who don't like Lubitsch's well-known "touch" will find it a wee bit on the wacky side, if you see what I mean.

Set in prewar England with all the quaint background the English countryside can offer, "Cluny" tells the story of two people—Jennifer Jones and Charles Boyer—who have no inhibitions about anything, not even making love in front of a large audience, like the one which attended the Fox opening last night.

Jennifer has been "exiled" by her uncle to a country estate, where she is to serve as a lady's maid, and Boyer is a Czech refugee who harbors some startling theories about happiness. Their paths cross and they become entangled in some of the most uproarious situations Lubitsch ever conceived.

Hattaway-Ward Marriage Told

Miss Audrey Grace Hattaway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hattaway, became the bride of Ens. Bernard Verlin Ward, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ossie Ward, of Flatwoods, Ky., recently at the Glenn Memorial Chapel, with Dr. James W. Middleton officiating.

Music was presented by Mrs. Mildred Roberts and Miss Olga Hammond.

Ens. Bill Stephenson served as best man; Ens. Robert Carter and Ens. Joe Howell were groomsmen.

Maid of honor was Miss Montene Wilson. She wore a pink net dress and carried a fan-shaped bouquet of pink gladioli and delphinium. The bridesmaids, Misses Dorothy Hattaway and Eula Mae Neil, wore blue net dresses and carried identical bouquets.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white net and lace. Her finger-tip veil of illusion was held by a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a prayer book topped with a lavender orchid and showered with Stephanotis and swainsons.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Tennessee and Kentucky. They will reside in Atlanta.

$500 Increase Asked For Federal Workers

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP)—Rep. Neely, Democrat, West Virginia, Thursday introduced legislation to boost salaries of post office and federal workers $500 yearly "to meet the rising cost of living occasioned by the cessation of federal price controls."

Both groups of workers recently received a $400 yearly boost, although the nation's 450,000 postal employees are currently going without any pay at all as the result of a legislative jam.

The $1,600,000,000 Post Office-Treasury Appropriation Bill, carrying postal pay roll funds, is snagged in a Senate-House conference committee by a disagreement over the price to be fixed for sale of government-owned silver.

Post Office officials said they were "hopeful" of an early agreement which would permit prompt approval of the bill. The department's employees were scheduled to be paid Tuesday and Wednesday.

Greeks Get More Bread

ATHENS, July 18—(AP)—The Greek bread ration will be increased from 8 to 10 ounces daily per person effective Aug. 1, the Ministry of Supply announced Thursday. The announcement said the increase was made possible by the excellent Greek wheat crop, which this year equals prewar production.

FLAKED FISH HASH

1 cup Gorton's Flaked Fish
1 cup chopped boiled Potato
1 Egg
1 Onion
1 tablespoon Butter or Margarine

Mix the fish with an equal quantity of finely chopped boiled potato and an onion chopped fine. Add egg (beaten), melted butter (or margarine), salt and pepper to taste. Form into a large cake; brown both sides in a frying pan in a little melted fat. (The use of pork fat adds to the flavor). Serve immediately on a heated platter; garnish with parsley or crisp watercress. Serves 4.

Senate Group To Hear Of 'Calls' In May Case

WASHINGTON, July 18—(UP)—The Senate War Investigating Committee will meet Friday to hear testimony from two members of the House and a former Congressman who reportedly held telephone conversations with officers of a Midwest munitions combine now under investigation, it was disclosed Thursday night.

They are House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack, Massachusetts; Rep. Adolph Sabath, Democrat, Illinois, and former Rep. Samuel Dickstein, Democrat, New York. They have asked the Committee they be permitted to appear and "set the record straight."

The three accepted an invitation from Committee Chairman James M. Mead, Democrat, New York, to appear before the group and explain the telephone calls. Mead had said a Committee meeting would be arranged if any of Congressmen mentioned during the investigation wished to appear.

Mead's invitation was extended after it was disclosed that "new evidence" had been uncovered in the inquiry and that the Committee had temporarily deferred efforts to force Rep. Andrew J. May, Democrat, Kentucky, to testify.

A Committee source said the new evidence was from a Washington man described as "highly credible" and would corroborate testimony by Mrs. Eleanor Hall, former Secretary at the combine's Washington office, who said May once asked a company official, "What about that $5,000?"

Another secretary of the firm, Mrs. Jenn Bates, had mentioned Sabath, McCormack and Dickstein in testimony Thursday about the constant telephonic activities at the combine's headquarters. In addition, she named May, Sen. Homer E. Capehart, Republican, Indiana, and the office of Senate Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley, Kentucky, as recipients of phone calls from the firm.

Mrs. Bates said Sabath, who earlier expressed a desire to appear before the Committee, was called "once a week" by officials of the Erie Basin and Batavia Metals Products Companies, parent firms of the combine. She said Dickstein "called in several times" and mentioned McCormack as also having called in.

Capehart already has appeared before the Committee to explain the one call he received from an official of the syndicate.

College Head To Speak On Student Air Tours

Dr. James Madison Wood, President of Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., will outline his plan for "Flying Classrooms" at Stephens College Clubs of Atlanta at 6:30 p. m. today at the Biltmore Hotel.

As soon as arrangements can be completed with major airlines, Dr. Wood plans to fly classes of students to places of interest, supplementing their regular classwork, with air trips to Europe as part of the potentialities of the plan.

Sideshow Fat Man Dies of Heart Attack

BEMIDJI, Minn., July 18—(AP)—Marlin Luitto, 720-pound carnival dwarf, died early Thursday shortly after he was stricken with a heart attack while appearing as a sideshow attraction with the McKee Shows at Cass Lake, Minn.

Luitto, 48-year-old resident of West Frankfort, Ill., died in an ambulance while being brought to a Bemidji hospital.

Known as "Jumbo Finn," Luitto had been in the show business 11 years. He was born in Finland. Surviving him are his wife and a 500-pound brother, Armon, at West Frankfort. The body will be taken there for burial.

Danish Frigate Docks At N. Y. With 75 Cadets

NEW YORK, July 18—(AP)—The 2,000-ton Royal Danish Frigate Holger Danske docked at a Hudson River pier Thursday after a 22-day trip from Copenhagen.

The vessel, commanded by Commodore Carl Westermann, head of the Danish Naval College, brought 75 midshipmen of the college on a training cruise. She fired a 21-gun salute to the American flag as she passed Governor's Island. The frigate is expected to leave early next week for a four-day visit to Annapolis, Md.

DELIGHTED WITH ZERO

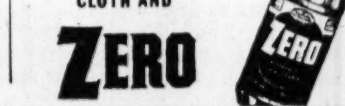

"Best Household Cleaner I've Ever Used"

"ZERO surely made housework easier for me," writes Mrs. M. L. G. She knows ZERO saves hours of hard work in cleaning walls, woodwork, tile, Venetian blinds, refrigerators. ZERO cleaning is cooler, too. No buckets of hot water. No mixing, scrubbing or rinsing. Just a cloth and ZERO quickly wipes away dirt. And ZERO leaves hands soft and smooth.

Nothing Cleans Like ZERO

Mrs. M. L. G. also says, "I cleaned a pair of Palm Beach trousers with ZERO. They were covered with black spots, but when I rubbed each spot in ZERO it came out like magic." Housewives have used more than 12 million bottles because they've proved that "nothing cleans like ZERO."

MOTHER, WHY BOIL AND SCRUB JUST TO MAKE DIAPERS LOOK CLEAN? WHY TAKE CHANCES WITH INFECTION FROM OUTSIDE SOURCES? NOW USE DIAPERWITE'S

ANTISEPTIC METHOD

To Cleanse Baby's Diapers, Right In Your Own Home!

Certainly, diapers, improperly washed, are not safe. They can cause skin inflammations which make baby cry and fret for hours.

Diaperwite's antiseptic method gives remarkable 2-way action. First, wets each fiber to the core, thus reaching all dirt and denaturing millions of germs. Second, loams and separates clinging imbedded dirt. Finally, emulsifies loosened dirt and these millions of germs into antiseptic liquid solution, which floats away as you rinse. Result, diapers come out clean, white, deodorized, unharmed. So why let baby suffer?

MOTHER: Tests for antiseptic, as defined in Bulletin 2133, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, show that Diaperwite solution is the most effective solution (minimum 15 hours) receive a cleansing and antiseptic action which inhibits millions of germs. So refuse substitutes! At your local drug, chain and department stores, 25¢. Diaperwite Inc., New York.

Thermizer Cooker and a marvelous Cook-Master control to turn oven heat on and off automatically. FRIGIDAIRE Electric Ranges are made only by General Motors . . . ask for them!

Want a breakfast cereal suggestion that's sure to please the whole family? Then choose CHEERIOS . . . famous for real substantial nourishment PLUS delicious flavor! CHEERIOS is made by General Mills, from hulled, whole grain nutritious Oats, so that it provides over one hundred food energy units in every one ounce serving! CHEERIOS is ready to eat right from the package . . . so no cooking is necessary. The flavor's delicious . . . just as different as CHEERIOS' shape! For CHEERIOS, you know, is shaped like tiny, crisp, golden-brown little doughnuts . . . round, like tiny letter Os . . . O stands for Oats. Made from Oats, CHEERIOS is good to taste . . . good for you! Serve this delicious and nutritious cereal for breakfast every morning!

Going to the beach? Then may I suggest UNION Kitchen Bags as ideal "carry-alls" for the various things you want to take along? They're made of sturdy waxed Kraft paper that's "leak-resistant" . . . a double duty bag . . . for your lunch to keep your sandwiches and cake fresh, and for carrying wet bathing suits and towels when homeward bound. But it's not all play with KITCHEN BAGS . . . just let them go to work for you as garbage pail and waste basket liners, as refrigerator bags, as covers for oil mops, as general "protectors" when storing household items from dust. A handy packet of KITCHEN BAGS costs only 10¢. Ask at Grocery, Housewares, Depts. or 10c Stores. Made by UNION Bag & Paper Corp., makers of a whole line of useful household bags!

You can't blame any child for bragging to his playmates that at "his" house they have TWO kinds of MONARCH Peanut Butter . . . and that they're always right there on the pantry shelf ready for a picnic "at the drop of a hat" . . . a quick, good lunch, or a tea party in the garden. It's fun, but not easy, to decide which kind one likes best . . . the rich, buttery Smooth Grind Peanut Butter . . . or the Krumbled Kernel Peanut Butter, crunchy and delicious to bite into. And that "fresh-roasted peanut flavor" is as evident in one as in the other. Spread either, generously, on sandwiches, toast or crackers, and use either to make delicious peanut butter cookies and icings for cakes. But to please ALL palates, be sure to get BOTH kinds from your Grocer. Look for famous MONARCH Lion Head Label on every jar!

Here's a brand new way to serve pork-'n'-beans . . . easy to fix and wonderful as the one hot dish you'll want on a warm summer evening!

SPAM-'N'-BEANS DINNER

Half bury SPAM slices in baked beans. Brown and serve piping hot after garnishing with tomatoes. Toss together a mixed green salad . . . and add a dash of fresh fruit to "top off" a delightful meal for a sizzling night!

The family will enjoy the "wedding" of SPAM and beans . . . for the juicy pure pork and tender ham in SPAM make this a taste-tantalizing dish! Made by the HORMEL Co., Austin, Minn., SPAM is sold only in 12-oz. cans . . . ask your Grocer! Wonderful for breakfast, lunch, dinner and sandwiches!

The proof of the pudding is in the EATING . . . reason why I recommend this "dainty dish to set before Your King." This simple, unfailing quickie of a VAN HOUTEN'S Chocolate Pudding is bound to give a taste-thrill to your husband, children and the most exacting guest!

Mix 1 cup Cocoa with 8 level tsb. cornstarch and 10 level tsb. VAN HOUTEN'S Cocoa. Stir a small part of 1 qt. cold milk into mixture, to make a paste. Heat remaining milk . . . add mixture, stirring constantly. Cook for a couple of minutes, and stir until pudding thickens. Pour into mold that has been rinsed with cold water.

Make sure you use VAN HOUTEN'S Cocoa . . . for it has that full-bodied wealth of pure chocolate flavor that makes everything from dessert to chocolate beverages super-delicious! It's the world's richest and best cocoa . . . serves ALL Purposes when you want a fine chocolate flavor. A FREE Recipe Booklet comes with each can . . . ask your Grocer!

Pryor Street Presbyterians To Welcome New Pastor

Pryor Street Presbyterian Church will welcome to its pulpit Sunday as its new Pastor the Rev. G. Dana Waters. A graduate of Columbia Theological Seminary in Decatur, the Rev. Mr. Waters comes to Atlanta from a pastorate in Matthews, N. C.

McCormick Tea

Recently a McCormick "fan" wrote us: "I have tried many brands of tea. Several months ago, my grocer suggested that I try McCormick Tea. On my table it means a fragrant, full-flavored, stimulating beverage that never fails to please."

It's the favorite tea because it goes farther. It's always rich, full-bodied, has a flavor that has never been duplicated, and lastly, it is expensive. Now you can get McCormick Tea at your favorite store just around the corner.

During the war, McCormick won 4 Army-Navy "E" awards and 2 Agricultural "A" awards.

Roosevelt's Yacht To Hunt Fish Poachers
ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 18—(AP)—The Coast Guard cutter Potomac, formerly President Roosevelt's private yacht, is the new flagship of the Maryland Fisheries Fleet.
The Potomac was exchanged for the yacht DuPont, which the State of Maryland loaned to the Coast Guard in 1942.
Gov. Herbert R. O'Connor, who announced the transfer following a conference with Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder, said the exchange was decided upon since restoring the DuPont to its former condition was considered impractical.

Heirens' Indictment To Be Asked?

CHICAGO, July 18—(AP)—William Heirens' attorneys examined the scene of the kidnap-slitting of Suzanne Degnan Thursday, indicating preparations for a possible court defense of their client on that charge.

Published reports that a deal still was in the making whereby Heirens would confess formally to three slayings in return for the State's recommendation for a life sentence instead of the electric chair were discounted Thursday by the Herald-American which said:

"All horse trading for a pre-trial settlement of the fate of William Heirens, the schizophrenic murder suspect, was abandoned today and opposing counsel began preparing for a judge and jury trial."

State's Atty. William J. Tuohy and Heirens' lawyers would not comment on reports a "deal" ever was suggested or considered.

Tuohy and his assistant prosecutors visited the scene of the kidnap-slitting earlier this week. The prosecutor has announced he will seek Heirens' indictment for murder in the Degnan case and the "lipstick slaying" of Frances Brown.

Reports have persisted all week, despite denials of the principals involved, that Heirens would confess the Degnan killing and the "lipstick" slaying in return for a life sentence recommendation. Chicago's five major newspapers have published reports, at various times, that a confession would be the next step. The youth has not been charged with any slayings.

Reds Report Hunger In U. S. Korean Zone

MOSCOW, July 18—(AP)—The government newspaper Izvestia said Thursday hunger prevails in the American occupation zone of Southern Korea. Russia occupies the northern part of the former Japanese-ruled mainland peninsula.

"Rice reserves are going everywhere except into the stomachs of Koreans," the newspaper added.

"The American Military Government, (Maj. Gen. Archer L.) Lerch, has made one of the greatest discoveries in economics: In his opinion, hungering people are themselves to blame on account of their boundless appetite."

Izvestia said the Governor, by calling on the people to eat less, "thereby gained political advantage from the situation which he himself created."

Former Georgian Killed in Crash

WEST POINT, N. Y., July 18—(AP)—The bodies of two graduates of the United States Military Academy last night from the wreckage of a plane in which they crashed on the side of South Mountain.

The plane, reported missing since last Thursday when it left Washington, D. C., on a routine trip to Stewart Field, Newburgh, was found yesterday.

Occupants of the plane were Col. James J. Heriot, 38, of Alexandria, Va., and Maj. John C. Catlin, 27, of Arlington, Va. Heriot was appointed to West Point from Georgia. He was graduated in 1930. Catlin, pilot of the plane, was graduated in 1943. He was appointed from Illinois.

Both officers were attached to the General Staff of the War Department in Washington.

French Workers Slate Wage Demonstration

PARIS, July 18—(AP)—Leaders of France's General Confederation of Workers, which claims a membership of 5,000,000, announced Thursday plans for a mass demonstration Friday in support of the union's demands for a general wage increase of 25 percent.

Rallies were held in various factories in the Paris region Wednesday night by Union members, who repeatedly chanted "raise our salaries."

Pres. Georges Bidault announced two days ago the Government could not see its way clear to granting a general wage increase of more than 15 percent.

Ex-Movie Actress Dies
HOLLYWOOD, July 18—(AP)—Evelyn Egan, 38, former movie actress, casting director and lately an executive with the Screen Actors' Guild, was found dead in bed at her home Wednesday, apparently from natural causes.

POTATOES IN PLACE OF BREAD

Potatoes are plentiful. They now have joined bread as the "staff of life." When you eat potatoes and share some of your bread-wheat, you help save a life.

Nutritionally, a small serving of potatoes can replace a slice of bread. At breakfast, potatoes can replace wheat, cereal, toast or biscuits. Serve potato salad at lunch or dinner in place of sandwich. Potatoes make an appetizing, fluffy topping for baked dishes.
